HIGH TOMATO PRICES MAKE VEG THALI DEARER FOR THIRD STRAIGHT MONTH

Preparing a vegetarian thali (meal) at home got dearer by 28% in July compared to June due to high tomato prices, a Crisil report said

NON-VEG THALI RELATIVELY LESS IMPACTED

In contrast, a non-vegetarian thali was relatively less impacted and the price of preparing the meal went up by only 11%, Crisil's 'Roti Rice Rate' report, released on Monday, said. The inflation in the thalis is largely driven by the 233% jump in tomato prices to ₹110 per kg in July from ₹33 in June, said the report. Non-veg thali cost was tempered by a 3-5% decline in broiler chicken prices, it added

PRICEY ONION, POTATO ESCALATE THALI COST

- The prices of onion and potato increased 16% and 9% on-month, respectively, contributing further to the increase in cost, the report said
- Chilli prices were up 69% in July over June, but as the quantity required in food preparation is lower, the impact on thali preparation was limited
- A 2% dip in vegetable oil price softened the increase in cost of both thalis

PROBE INTO NAMES ON SELECT PANEL

RS Deputy Chairman Harivansh announced a probe into complaints of at least 4 MPs that their names were included in a proposed select panel on the Delhi services bill without their consent

PARLIAMENT on Monday approved the contentious Delhi services bill that sought control over appointments and transfers of bureaucrats, with its passage in the Rajya Sabha by 131-102 after a heated debate.

Voting happened through paper slips as the digital board in the Upper House developed a snag. As expected, BJD and YSRCP members voted with the NDA in favour of the Government of National Capital Territory of Delhi (Amendment) Bill, which replaced the Delhi ordinance, tilting the scales away from the Opposition.

Signficantly, the Opposition got less votes than its anticipated 108 while the NDA got more than its expected 128-129.

The Opposition's proposal to send the bill to a parliamentary select committee for vetting was rejected by voice vote. The proposed legislation was earlier passed by the Lok Sabha on August 3 by voice vote.

Union home minister Amit Shah, while replying to the debate, tore into the Opposition's protest against the bill. "The Delhi Service Bill does not violate the Supreme Court order that says the elected government is the boss in Delhi," he asserted, adding that it was not the BJP but the Congress that has brought it first. "Now the Congress is opposing the bill only to appease the AAP by sitting on its lap," Shah remarked, drawing strong objections from the Opposition.

Earlier, AAP members had alleged that bill would set a precedent of stripping Opposition-ruled states of their legitimate powers. Shah countered it, saying: "This Bill has nothing to do with other states or UTs. It is meant to save the rights of the people in Delhi."

Taking a dig on the AAP, Shah said the party was born after opposing the Congress. "But today they (AAP) are seeking support from the Congress to oppose the legislation. The moment the bill is passed, AAP convenor Arvind Kejriwal will take a U-turn," Shah said.

Opposition members put up a strong protest against the bill, terming it an attempt to kill democracy. AAP member Raghav Chadha said the BJP, after losing many elections, including in Delhi, has resorted to the bill, adding leaders like Atal Bihari Vajpayee and L K Advani had advocated full-edged statehood to Delhi. Congress leader P Chidambaram slammed the BJP saying that it neither had constitutional nor moral authority to pass the legislation.

Congress member Abhishek Manu Singhvi called it is a retrogressive legislation that is completely unconstitutional.

To lead no-trust debate

Back as MP, Rahul is expected to lead the attack against the Modi government in the no-trust motion on Tuesday. The Congress is also keen to have him as key speaker in the debate on the Manipur unrest

THE Lok Sabha Secretariat on Monday revoked the suspension of Congress leader Rahul Gandhi, four months after he was disqualified and days after the Supreme Court stayed his conviction in a defamation case over Modi surname remarks.

The restoration of Gandhi's Lok Sabha membership was widely welcomed by leaders from Congress and the Opposition bloc INDIA.

Congress Chief Mallikarjun Kharge said it brought relief to the people of India, and especially to Gandhi's constituency Wayanad in Kerala. "Victory of love against hate," tweeted the official social media handle of the Congress party.

Celebrations erupted at AICC headquarters after the Lok Sabha Secretariat issued the notification announcing restoration of the ex-Congress chief's membership.

Although Gandhi attended the proceedings when the House convened at noon, it was soon adjourned after BJP leader Nishikant Dubey raised allegations of Congress's 'unholy nexus' with China.

SC names panel, to oversee CBI's Manipur probe

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday set up a three-member committee comprising former high court judges Gita Mittal, Shalini P Joshi and Asha Menon to oversee the relief and rehabilitation of victims of Manipur violence and said former Maharashtra police chief Dattatray Padsalgikar will monitor the overall probe into criminal cases.

The three-member panel will submit their reports to the SC directly. "This committee will be looking at things apart from the investigation including relief, rehabilitation of relief camps, remedial measure — remit will be a broad based committee — who will be looking into diverse aspects of humanitarian nature," Chief Justice D Y Chandrachud said while instructing the judicial committee and Dattatray Padsalgikar to submit separate reports before the court.

The apex court clarified that it has no intention of superseding the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI)'s ongoing probe but stressed that it will monitor the overall situation in the strife-torn state "to restore people's faith in the rule of law".

Besides Padsalgikar, who will function as an 'additional layer of scrutiny', the SC proposed that five police officers from states outside Manipur be brought to the CBI on deputation to oversee the investigaton. It said these officers would function within the CBI's administrative setup and be supervised by a joint director.

Actor Vijay Raghavendra's wife Spandana dies in Bangkok

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

SPANDANA, the spouse of actor and National Award recipient Vijay Raghavendra, passed away after a sudden cardiac arrest during a family vacation in Bangkok, Thailand. She was 44.

It was reported that she was swiftly taken to a hospital for immediate medical attention, but could not be saved.

Spandana, the daughter of former police officer BK Shivaram, marked her entry into the film industry with a cameo role in Ravichandran's 2017 film, Apoorva, and later made her mark as a producer with Kismat, a film starring Vijay Raghavendra.

Spandana

Tragically, Spandana passed away just as the couple was to return home and prepare for their 16th wedding anniversary celebrations on August 26. Spandana and Vijay Raghavendra tied the knot in 2007 and have a son, Shourya.

Reports indicated that Spandana's postmortem was completed, and her body is to be brought back to Bengaluru on Tuesday. The final rites are scheduled to be held on Wednesday. P3

Don't expect more grants this yr: CM to MLAs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CM Siddaramaiah holds a meeting with ministers and MLAs in Bengaluru on Monday | EXPRESS

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Monday reportedly told Congress MLAs not to expect more grants for their constituencies this year as the government is focussing more on the implementation of five guarantees.

Siddaramaiah, who began his meetings with MLAs and ministers in-charge of districts to iron out the differences between them over release of grants, also told them to wait for some more time for funds to take up development works in their constituencies.

The CM met the MLAs and district in-charge ministers from Tumakuru, Yadgir, Chitradurga, Bagalkot, Ballari and Dharwad districts.

Sources in the Chief Minister's Office said Siddaramaiah listened to the MLAs who raised issues such as delay in releasing funds to implement development projects and lack of coordination between them and ministers in-charge of districts, and promised them that he would take steps to resolve these issues.

Many MLAs sought grants for their constituencies to take up development works. But the CM told them to wait for at least eight months as the government is focussing on the implementation of the five guarantees. He, however, promised them that grants will be released in a phased manner, the sources said. CONTINUED ON: P4

HC stops Nuh bulldozer justice, wonders if it is ethnic cleansing

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE Punjab and Haryana High Court on Monday took cognisance of bulldozer justice in the riot-torn Nuh by itself and directed the Haryana government to stop it immediately, wondering whether it was an ethnic cleansing exercise in the guise of restoring law and order. The court also directed the government to explain if the building demolitions happened after serving due notice.

Judges G S Sandhawalia and Harpreet Kaur Jeewan said, "Law and order is being used as a ruse to bring down buildings without following the procedure established by law." It appointed advocate Kshitij Sharma as amicus curae (friend of court) to assist it. The bench sought an affidavit on the number of buildings razed so far.

The local authorities said rioters used the demolished buildings to start riots by pelting stones at a VHP procession. After the court order, the demolition drive was stopped. The court's intervention came after four days of demolition in Nuh.

Edtech employee accused of sending rape, death threats

DONNA EVA @ Bengaluru

SEVERAL allegations have been made against an edtech company after a tweet by a woman accusing its employee of sending death and rape threats to her family went viral.

A Twitter account, under the name of Dr Riya (@Riya_MBBS), posted several screenshots on social media of the alleged messages her family had received from the employee.

In the messages, the employee, going by the name Probuddha Roy, makes several rape threats against the Twitter user's mother. The employee also threatens to track down the family members. "Just because my brother refused to enroll, this employee from the edtech company has been repeatedly cursing me and abusing my mom, threatening to rape and kill her in such dirty language," the Twitter user said.

She alleged that the employee changed his phone number several times to harass her family following the incident. "In spite of blocking him, he has been harassing and abusing us using different phone numbers and names. We are afraid to go out now. We're still getting numerous calls. In fear, I'm keeping my phone switched off," she said.

Following the tweets, Bengaluru City Police responded asking the Twitter user for more details regarding the issue to file a complaint. CONTINUED ON: P5

BBMP contractors seek President's nod for euthanasia

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

WITH the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) yet to make part payment of Rs 675 crore released by the state government towards clearing the bills of Palike contractors, about 500 contractors have written to President Droupadi Murmu seeking her permission for euthanasia.

Revealing this to reporters here on Monday, president of BBMP Contractors' Association KT Manjunath said, "For 2023-24, the Palike collected around Rs 2,000 crore as tax. We request the chief commissioner to inform us about the reason for Palike not clearing the bills for works done by contractors for about 26 months." P2

Five-gen M'luru family registers for India Post scheme

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE great-great-grandmother of this Mangaluru-based family is 103, while her great-great-granddaughter is three.

What brings them together with other members of the five-generation family is -- they have all just opened accounts under India Post's Mahila Samman Savings Certificate (MSSC).

They made history possibly by being the only five-generation family in India to open savings accounts at the sub-post office at Kinnigoli near Mangaluru on August 3.

Seetha Poojarthi (103), who resides at Kuppepadavu; her daughter Sundari Poojarthi (72), who lives at Kaikamba; her granddaughter Yamuna Poorjarthi (50) of Ullai Bethu; her great-granddaughter Pavithra V Amin (33); and her great-great-granddaughter Dithya V Amin (3) have opened savings accounts under MSSC aimed at financial empowerment of women.

The staff members of Kinnigoli sub-post office under Mangaluru Postal Division deserve all accolades for this achievement. They not only visited the residences of the senior women, but also brought all of them, living in various parts of the district, to the post office in a car driven by Pavithra's husband Vijay Amin. 4 PANELS TO PROBE BBMP WORKS FROM 2019 TO 2022

IAS officers to head panels to inquire into projects under BJP govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE state government has constituted four separate expert inquiry committees to conduct a thorough probe into projects and programmes executed under the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) between financial years 2019-20 and 2022-23.

There were allegations that under the previous BJP government, bills were paid without works executed, Karnataka Transparency in Public Procurement (KTPP) was violated in issuing tenders, the quality was not maintained and approved works were not executed. Deputy Chief Minister and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar had written to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah seeking a special inquiry.

Following the chief minister's approval, the Urban Development Department has ordered that four separate committees, each headed by an IAS officer, be formed.

Senior IAS officer Ujwal Kumar Ghosh will head a four-member team to probe solid waste management works. Amlan Aditya Biswas will helm a six-member team to probe development works and permission granted to lay optic fibrres.

PC Jaffar will head a four-member committee to inquire into storm water drain works, approval of map and occupancy certificates. Dr Vishal R's five-member team will probe lake development and smart city works.

According to the government order, retired chief engineers, PWD Captain RR Doddihal and Basavarakoti and retired KPTCL assistant executive engineer T Prabhakar will assist Ghosh.

PWD chief engineers Prabhakar D Hammige and K Mohan, retired general manager of National Highways Authority of India Jwalendra Kumar and two retired PWD executive engineers Basavaraj Saunshimath and NS Mohan will assist Biswas.

Retired EICR secretary SB Siddagangappa, retired PWD chief engineer HR Ramakrishna and retired PWD executive engineer Mallesh will assist Jaffar. Retired PWD chief engineer Beese Gowda, three retired PWD executive engineers HP Prakash, Srikanth and H Kumar and retired assistant executive engineer GS Gopinath will be the members of the committee into lake development and smart city works.

The committees have been directed to file reports within 30 days.

Audit order led to resentment

MANJUNATH said the association is collecting statements, including video messages, from the distressed contractors to be sent to the President's office.

If the demands of the association members are not met immediately, they would be forced to take the extreme step.

The association members said that they have decided to suspend all works from Monday in protest against the delay in clearing their bills by the government on the pretext of an investigation and audit of works done and bills submitted during the BJP rule.

They said when the government had earlier ordered to release Rs 675 crore, setting up of a committee now to audit the works and bills submitted will further delay payments to them.

Deputy Chief Minister and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar had sent a note to BBMP officials asking them to audit all works and bills submitted from 2019 to 2022 before making payments. This move led to resentment among the contractors.

Association's honorary president Devaraj, vice-president G Venkatesh, general secretary T Venkatesh and technical advisor Manjunath were present.

Govt slashes engineering colleges' fee

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Higher Education Department has revised the fee structure for engineering and architecture colleges under various categories in the state.

The move comes after Higher Education Minister MC Sudhakar last week announced that the engineering college fee hike will be reduced from 10% to 7% for the academic year 2023-24.

A new consensual order, issued on August 6, was signed between the government and private engineering colleges where government seats are allotted for the academic year 2023-24. The department has announced that for the University of Mysore, where 504 seats are allotted, the fees will be capped at Rs 40,110. For Visvesvaraya Technological University, the fees will be Rs 40,110 for the first year and Rs 22,260 for consequent years. "For the University of Visvesvaraya College of Engineering, Rs 45,000 will be charged for first-year students and Rs 43,500 for other years," read the government notification.

When it comes to private aided engineering colleges, the fees have been reduced to Rs 40,110 benefiting 95% of government quota students which are reserved through the Karnataka Examination Authority (KEA). For 45% of government seats for non-minority, private unaided colleges, the fee is capped at Rs 69,214 or Rs 76,905 for different categories.

In government colleges with minority, unaided, private engineering and architecture colleges, the fees will be Rs 69,214 or Rs 76,905 for 40% of the seats. Under the Karnataka Religious and Linguistic Minority Professional Colleges Association (KRLMPCA) with 30% seats, the fees are capped at Rs 1,69,192 or Rs 2,37,706 under the different quotas. In colleges under the Consortium of Medical, Engineering and Dental Colleges of Karnataka (COMEDK), 30% of seats will have fees fixed at Rs 1,69,192 or Rs 2,37,706. The revised structure comes as a relief to many students in the current academic year.

The previous BJP government in March 2023 had signed the agreement fixing the hike at 10% which ranged between Rs 91,796 and Rs 98,984 depending upon the type of college for unaided colleges with government seats.

#No Balloons Please this Independence Day

PURAN CHOUDHARY @Bengaluru

A Bengaluru-based citizen volunteer group has launched a nation-wide petition urging state and central governments not to use any balloons during this year's Independence Day celebrations. The group, Beautiful Bharat, has sought urgent intervention from Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Union Minister of Environment, Forest and Climate Change Bhupendra Yadav to stop the widespread use of balloons, including the release of tricolour balloons, given the adverse environmental impact on the environment.

More than 2,500 individuals have signed the petition #NoBalloonsPlease across the country. Speaking to the New Indian Express, Odette Katrak, co-founder of Beautiful Bharat, said, "After the campaign, so many people have got in touch with us saying why haven't anyone spoken about this yet and what are the different alternatives that can be adopted."

She added that awareness is crucial as many are not aware of the disastrous effects balloons have not just on the environment, but also on land and water bodies, impacting birds who eat it and children choking on balloon pieces. "The microplastic dissolve in lakes and rivers affecting the water table and becoming a health hazard," she added.

Highlighting alternatives to balloons, the group suggested that cloth, newspapers or flower decorations can be used. Schools can organise different activities before Independence Day and promote sustainable ways to mark occasions. Some schools and organisations have already initiated sustainable ways. Many influencers too have come on board to educate the public on the harmful effects of balloons.

More than 45 organisations have collaborated on the petition and hope to reach the officials before August 15.

On can sign the petition on change.org and help reach more people.

'I wanted all women in my family to benefit from the scheme'

"The women were given sarees as gifts apart from a treat at a nearby restaurant to honour the family's unique achievement," K Raghunath Kamath, head of Multi-Tasking Staff at Kinnigoli, told TNIE.

Kamath, who joined the department 32 years ago, goes door-to-door promoting the scheme. He met Pavithra at her house and briefed her about the benefits of the scheme.

"I asked her about other women in her family and she gave me all the details. We decided to make them open their accounts," he said.

"After I heard about the high rate of interest and the flexibility of savings it offered, I wanted all women in my family to benefit from the scheme. Postal employees helped us bring my great-great-grandmother, who resides 40km away, to the post office," Pavithra, a homemaker, told TNIE. Seetha, who used to work as a farmer, now lives with her son and his family.

Sudhakara Mallya, senior superintendent of posts, Mangaluru Division, said, "India Post reached five generations at one go through MSSC. Credit for this goes to Raghunath Kamath, who persuaded them to open the savings accounts."

ONE-TIME PLAN

The one-time scheme for women is available for two years from April 1, 2023, to March 31, 2025. A maximum of Rs 2 lakh can be deposited. The amount can be deposited at once or in installments. The scheme provides for 7.5% interest every quarter.

CITY MOURNS DEMISE OF 'BENGALURU KID', HUNDREDS TURN UP FOR FUNERAL

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

HUNDREDS of citizens paid their respects to 13-year-old motorcycle racing prodigy Shreyas Hareesh, also known as the Bengaluru Kid, following his untimely death on Saturday.

Over 500 people joined Shreyas' funeral procession in Bengaluru on Monday, where he was cremated in Hebbal. "It is a very unfortunate incident and his loss is certainly a loss to the entire nation. He became interested in racing, following in the footsteps of his father and, as a racer, I was taken aback at his prowess in the sport," Ganesh Prasad, a fellow biker and close friend of Hareesh's family, told TNIE.

Ganesh compared Shreyas to Marc Márquez, another prolific MotoGP racer, who inspired Shreyas and influenced his riding style. Described as a wonderkid and a prodigy in his field, Shreyas was the first ever champion at the FIM Mini Grand Prix (GP) India. He went on to represent India in Spain late last year, at the FIM MiniGP World Series, coming in the fifth place.

"There is little to no representation for India at the Grand Prix, which is why Shreyas going so far is such a big deal. He was a prodigy and the way he rode with such precision was incredible. I was at the race during the crash, and in previous races too. Every time, he always had a second to a second and a half lead on his competitors, which was no small feat," Prasad told TNIE.

Shreyas was involved in a crash where he suffered a fatal head injury taking part in Round 3 of the Indian National Motorcycle Racing Championship at the Madras International Circuit (MMRT) in Irungattukottai, Chennai. He was later declared dead on arrival at a local hospital. "His bike had skidded, throwing him off. The third or forth racer had hit him from behind, shattering his helmet on impact. Shreyas was an incredible racer, it was remarkable as to how good he was," Prasad said. He said it was a common sight to see kids as young as 11 years old start their career. "Similar to most sport professions, racers also begin at a young age and build their way up. It doesn't make sense to start at age 19, the world of racing itself is incredibly competitive that way," he said.

A resident of Sahakar Nagar, Shreyas was studying in Class 8 at Kensri School. He is survived by his parents and older sister.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

08th August : It's the second cautious day in succession. Therefore, let me declare, it's a moment to take care. Today's stars succeed by checking every possible option and making sure of every single detail. That way, we are never caught napping. It's a remarkable skill and one we should all adhere to!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
No doubt you have had your fill of criticism, complaints and broken promises. You do appear to be carrying the cares of the world on your shoulders. Actually, the real burden does seem to be lighter than you imagine. It's just that you've been making heavy weather of it.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
There is a slight chance that your financial affairs have been, or are about to be, thrown into utter confusion by circumstances beyond your control. However, look closely and you'll see that in fact you have been liberated from a major burden.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You may have swallowed a tall story, but I don't think anyone should laugh at you for being gullible. The fact is that fiction can have more meaning and pertinence than fact. People who refuse to recognise this condemn themselves to a grey, drab life.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You can stand your ground and continue to play for time. You see, only when you are absolutely convinced that a major alteration in the pattern of your personal life is to your advantage should you agree to discuss a peace treaty. And then you can meet a partner halfway.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
This is not really a time for self-reflection, but I'd still say that if you are prepared to reassess your personal values, you will do yourself a great deal of good. Watch out for emotional outbursts from people who just can't see how good life really is.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You will have to work hard to keep your emotions in check, but the question is - why shouldn't other people see how you feel? One key to happiness at the moment is spontaneity: I think that children and younger relations can teach you a lot about pleasure.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Sixty percent of your major planetary patterns are featuring fundamental issues, aligned with the foundations of your chart and rooting you to the spot. Don't feel frustrated by other people's demands, but do appreciate the fact that you are wanted.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Why do other people imagine that they have a claim on your time and talents? Perhaps it's because you've sent out the wrong signals in the past. Now is the time to clarify your thoughts and issue clear proclamations for the future. Others need to know what you think.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Your solar chart is looking so utterly business like at the moment, that you ought to be on firm ground when discussing long-term investments. You'll have a chance to make family choices next week, but you may have to relinquish some of the limelight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Stunning planetary aspects may relate to your personal life, or they could refer to your professional activities. What is crucially important though is the exciting way they encourage you to exceed your personal best. I don't think anything can hold you back now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You ought to be enjoying some kind of recognition for all your hard work, but for some reason everyone's good intentions seem to be fog-bound. Other people's statements may be entirely different from what they mean, and you may have to figure out a strange emotional puzzle.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You are extremely fortunate in that you have a remarkable capacity to slide away from trouble. Some people would call you slippery, but how wrong they are: I'd describe you as eminently sensible. Right now, you're mulling over the past, getting ready to make a major choice next week.

Man, son on bike run over by speeding car

Their relative also on the two-wheeler injured; car driver suspected to be drunk

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A man and his son were killed on the spot while the former's son-in-law sustained injuries after the two-wheeler they were riding was hit by an over-speeding car near ISRO Junction in the Sadashivanagar traffic police station limits on Sunday night. The car's driver was reportedly driving the automobile under the influence of alcohol.

There were five persons in the car, of whom four managed to escape. The person, who has been caught, was chased and nabbed by the public.

The victims have been identified Raghu Nayak, 55, and his son Chiranjeevi, 26, both residents of Singapura Layout.

Nayak's son-in-law Vasudeva is undergoing treatment in a hospital. The trio — all book vendors — was returning home when the accident occurred at around 11.45 pm on New BEL Road.

The family is from Davanagere. The car driver, while driving towards MS Ramaiah Hospital side, was unable to control the vehicle and then first rammed into an autorickshaw and then the two-wheeler on which the victims were riding.

Motorists chased suspect

When the accused kept driving the car without attending to the victims, other motorists and a few autorickshaw drivers chased the car down and stopped it.

The public managed to nab one of the accused identified as Akash, who is the son of a former Magadi zilla panchayat member. The four accused who had escaped later returned to the car and are said to have driven it away.

The Sadashivanagar traffic police have registered a case and are further investigating.

CONSUMER ATTACKS BESCOM METER READER, BREAKS HIS TEETH

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

ENRAGED over a high electricity bill, a power consumer attacked a 28-year-old Bescom meter reader with a deadly weapon and punched the latter's face repeatedly, who lost his teeth, in the city recently.

On the directions of his higher-ups, the victim filed a criminal complaint against the accused, who was arrested. The accused, Shamshad Khan, stays at building number 32/3 on 16th Cross of Govindapura.

Shamshad, who started arguing with meter reader B Nagaraj Naik , suddenly attacked him and smashed the billing machine on the road, the complaint stated. Naik, a resident of Veerannapalya in Govindapura, told The New Indian Express that the incident occurred between 11.20 am and 11.35 am on Friday.

The victim had gone to generate bills in the building of Abdul Ahmed, where Shamshad (42) stays as a tenant. "I was explaining the reasons for the increase in the bill, when Khan attacked me from behind with a weapon. After punching my face, he grabbed the billing machine and broke it into pieces. The bill was around Rs 4,000. In the last two months, the bills were not high for that house, probably because electricity used was less," said Naik, who works at the Veerannapalya Bescom office and has been working in the same area for the last two years.

"The accused has been booked for causing hurt by dangerous weapons along with other sections of the Indian Penal Code," said an officer on part of investigations.

HC tells authorities to integrate state police IT with road accident database

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

TO ensure that accident victims get compensation without any delay, the Karnataka High Court directed DGPs, secretaries of the Transport Department, Health and e-Governance Departments to integrate the state police IT system with the E-Detail Accident Report (E-DAR), an integrated road accident database, on the Parivahan website set up by the Union Ministry of Road Transport and Highways.

The court directed the officials to integrate the police IT system with the unique usability ID website to track the disability caused to the victim. The court also asked all the insurance companies to get details of the policy, transport department to get vehicle details to implement the Central Motor Vehicles Amendment Rules of 2022 properly to ensure compensation to victims.

Justice Suraj Govindaraj passed the order, dismissing the petition filed by the divisional manager of United India Insurance Company Limited to quash the order passed by the motor vehicles accidents tribunal in Raichur on July 5, 2023. The court also condoned a delay of five months in filing the claim petition by a minor.

The insurance company contended that no claim petition can be entertained unless it is made within six months of the occurrence of the accident.

Whitefield police arrest two in road rage case

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Whitefield police have arrested two youths in connection with a road rage incident in which they allegedly tried to assault a car driver for not giving way to overtake.

The accused have been identified as Murali (22), who works as a ball boy at a tennis club, and Raghu (25), an electrician.

Police said the alleged incident took place on Saturday evening, when the complainant was going in a car with his wife and sister-in-law. The accused duo, who were on a bike, tried to overtake the car near Nallurahalli, but the complainant didn't make way for them as the road was narrow. This led to an altercation and the accused overtook the car and asked the complainant to stop. They smashed the glass of the car, hurled abuses and tried to attack the complainant. They repeated the act twice in Ramagondanahalli and Siddapura by following the car and intimidating the complainant.

"They have been booked under various charges including attempt to murder," the Whitefield police said.

THE news of her passing has deeply saddened her family, relatives and the Kannada film fraternity. Speaking to the media, a distraught Sriimurali, brother of Vijay Raghavendra, said, "My brother called and informed me that attige (sister-in-law Spandana) had travelled to Bangkok with her cousins, and anna (Vijay) joined them after completing his shooting schedule. After spending time together, she went to bed but did not wake up. We believe it could be due to low blood pressure, and we will await further details on their return. However, it is true that events unfolded in this manner."

Notably, the family suffered a similar loss with cousin Puneeth Rajkumar succumbing to a fatal cardiac arrest. Additionally, Dhruwan, who is also related to the Rajkumar family, was involved in a grave accident, following which his right leg had to be amputated from the knee.

Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, and several other prominent figures expressed their heartfelt condolences to Spandana's family through various social media platforms.

Congress leader BK Hariprasad, Shivaram's older brother, confirmed the sequence of events leading to his niece's untimely demise. He requested the media to avoid spreading rumours and to await the official autopsy report before discussing the cause of her death.

Fake letter on agriculture minister sets off demand for resignation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A fake letter sent to Raj Bhavan triggered a demand for Agriculture Minister N Chaluvarayaswamy's resignation. The Governor's office forwarded the letter to the government, with a direction to take appropriate action.

In the letter, which the minister, officials and Congress leaders termed fake, agriculture department officials from Mandya have accused the minister of demanding Rs 6-8 lakh for postings. The letter demanded measures to put an end to corrupt practices.While the opposition BJP and AAP demanded the minister's resignation, Congress legislators demanded action against those behind the fake letter.

"The only 'TRANSPARENCY' in Siddaramaiah's government is 'Bid' for Transfers! Higher the Bid, Highest Post! It's Just Cash and Carry! Corruption Levels in Transfers have Reached the Max Limits. 8 Assistant Directors for Agriculture have written to Governor against Minister Chaluvarayaswamy that they are being demanded Rs 6-8 Lakhs for Posting. They have also told them don't have another way other than suicide," former Union minister and BJP MLA Basangouda Patil Yatnal stated.

The AAP state unit demanded that Chief Minister Siddaramaiah sack the minister and appealed to the Lokayukta to register a suo motu case against him. The party even warned of an agitation if action was not taken.

Chaluvarayaswamy rubbished the allegations, saying he has not even met the assistant directors of the department. He said he was told a fake letter was being circulated to the media. "I have asked the department secretary to investigate. Let the report come out, then I will react. People are targeting me day and night, I am not concerned," he said. Ashok VS, joint director of the agriculture department, Mandya, said there is no pressure on them to collect any money. "I believe it is a fake letter," the officer said. He has written to SP, Mandya, seeking a probe into attempts to defame the department.

Meanwhile, Congress legislators have written to the SP, demanding action against those who wrote the letter. They termed it a conspiracy against the minister by those who are desperate, as the Congress government is implementing its guarantee schemes. "A criminal case should be registered against the person behind the letter," they demanded.

Earlier, Congress MLA BR Patil had claimed that a fake letter using his letterhead was circulated to create a rift in the party. Meanwhile, Siddaramaiah said it has been revealed that the letter circulating online is a fake. The Joint Director of Mandya Agriculture Department clarified that there are no such officers in the district. However, we will review the matter and investigate, if necessary. Leaders of BJP are you the creator of such a fake letter spreading slander against the government? Or your "brother"?, he questioned.

Mansoor Khan may make way for Umashree as MLC

Cong finalises names of Seetharam, Sudham Das for 3 Council seats

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

NOMINATIONS to three vacant Legislative Council seats that have been pending for over two months are likely to be cleared soon and Congress has almost finalised the names of MR Seetharam, HP Sudham Das and Umashree, according to reliable sources.

As per protocol, the cabinet will decide on the nominations and as a formality authorise Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to take the decision. The chief minister will then forward the names to the governor, who will give his assent.

The cabinet is likely to take the decision at one of its meetings soon. While Siddaramaiah has backed the candidature of Umashree, his depuy DK Shivakumar is keen on Sudham Das.

The sources said, "The name of Mansoor Khan, who is one of the AICC office bearers incharge of Telangana, had been finalised earlier. But now he has to make way for former minister Umashree."

If that happens, Mansoor will be unlucky the second time as even earlier, his name was removed at the last minute to accommodate Abdul Jabbar. Mansoor's attempts to contest from the Chickpet Assembly constituency too failed as the party decided to pick former MLA RV Devraj, who lost.

Of the likely nominees, Sudham Das is a career revenue service bureaucrat who joined Congress about six months ago and hails from the SC left community.

Seetharam is an educationist, former minister and former MLA, who represented Malleswaram.

Umashree is a former actor who won from the Terdal constituency on a Congress ticket in 2013. But she lost subsequent elections in 2018 and 2023 from the same seat.

Letter to Governor

None of the three has to face an election as they will go directly to the 75-member Legislative Council.

They will replace former mayor PR Ramesh, filmmaker Mohan Kondajji and social activist CM Lingappa, whose terms ended around two months ago. The term of an MLC lasts six years.

Recently, the Muslim Jagruti Vedike and Raghu Achar of Nyayamitra wrote to Governor Thawaarchand Gehlot about the proposed candidates, and he in turn has sent the letter to the chief secretary.

Revenue minister asks officials to prepare list of encroached govt lands

ENS @ Bengaluru

REVENUE Minister Krishna Byre Gowda asked department officials to prepare a preliminary list of government lands that have been encroached by land sharks, at the earliest, and instructed them to conduct eviction drives every weekend.

Chairing a meeting with the Chief Secretary, Bengaluru Urban/Rural deputy commissioners and revenue commissioners at Vikasa Soudha, Gowda ordered all the officials to take strict action to clear encroachments.

"The encroachment of government land is the biggest problem in Bengaluru. Government land is being grabbed by the land mafia. As a result, the government is losing a lot of revenue. Therefore, the officials should prepare a preliminary list of encroached land as soon as possible, and proceed to clear the encroachment every Saturday and Sunday," he said. He recalled that during the last session, the government had given a word to evict the encroachment of government land. Besides clearing the encroachments, the officials, through regular weekly meetings, should also take steps to fence the said lands.

Meanwhile, land surveyors and village accountants should re-survey every plot in government records under the leadership of a tahsildar, Gowda directed, adding that the report should be brought to the notice of deputy commissioners.

It is in the wake of several cases of government documents being either stolen or tampered with by the land mafia that the resurvey is required, as the eligible beneficiaries who got land granted under Land Reform-Bagar Hukum committees are being inconvenienced. Apart from these lands, gomala, cemetery land, lakes and ponds are also encroached upon, he remarked.

CID to probe Udupi voyeurism case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Udupi

A case of girl students allegedly filming their college mates in a washroom at a paramedical college in Udupi was handed over to the Criminal Investigation Department (CID) on Monday.

Kundapur DySP Belliappa, who was already investigating the case, will hand over the documents to the CID team in two days. Belliappa and his team are now collating all the documents that have to be handed over.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah stated on his social media account that the case had been handed over to the CID.

Soon after the incident, the college had suspended three girls, who allegedly kept mobile phones in a washroom.

The incident had triggered a controversy with opposition BJP and Congress attacking each other. BJP held protests across the state, demanding serious action against the three girls. It had even alleged that the government is treating the girls with kid gloves as they belong to a minority community.

Bucking under pressure, the Udupi police had filed a suo motu case against the three girls. But BJP and Sangh Parivar wanted a Special Investigation Team probe, saying they do not trust the Udupi police. As late as last week, Siddaramaiah had rejected BJP's demand for an SIT probe.

CM told us not to embarrass party, says MLA

CONGRESS MLA from Kunigal Ranganath said seven legislators from Tumakuru took part in the meeting. The CM directed the district in-charge minister to hold regular meetings with the MLAs and sort out their problems, he said.

Another Congress MLA said the CM also instructed them to work towards strengthening the Congress ahead of Lok Sabha elections. The CM told them not to embarrass the party and its leadership. There will be differences in any party or organisation. One should not blow them up. When some MLAs complained that the in-charge ministers always camp in district headquarters and never visit rural areas, the CM directed them not to sit in one place. On Tuesday, CM Siddaramaiah will be meeting MLAs from Raichur, Vijayapura, Koppal, Belagavi, Haveri and Kalaburagi.

BJP Raita Morcha members protest against Cong policies

BENGALURU: BJP Raita Morcha members on Monday staged demonstrations against the state government's anti-farmer policies. Protests were held in Mysuru, Shivamogga, Hubballi-Dharwad, Belagavi, Tumakuru, Ballari, Koppal, Mandya, Haveri, Bidar, Yadgir, Raichur, Vijayanagara, Chitradurga, and Bengaluru Rural. They termed the Siddaramaiah government an "anti-farmer". The BJP is protesting against the government's decision to discontinue the Raita Vidyanidhi Scholarship that was given to 11 lakh children of farmers, the repealing of changes made to the APMC Act, and other policy decisions. ENS

Guarantees announced without research: Shazia

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

BJP national spokesperson Shazia Ilmi criticised the Karnataka government for struggling to implement its guarantee schemes because of financial constraints and she also took a dig at Congress for coming up with such schemes without proper research.

She said in Mangaluru on Monday that the finance department has written to the government saying it cannot provide funds for the Gruha Lakshmi scheme this year under which the government has promised Rs 2,000 a month to women heads of families.

"The finance department has said that implementing the scheme will affect the state exchequer and lead to revenue deficit. It is very easy to give guarantees and it is easy to tell lies. Now, the government is saying only those women who are BPL card holders will benefit from the scheme. We demand that the content of the letter be made public," she said.

The present Union government led by Prime Minister Narendra Modi has come up with several schemes to ensure people get better road infrastructure, health facilities etc. "But the Karnataka government here will compromise on development work be it health, education or infrastructure sector with this 'revdi culture'," she said. To a question on BJP's election promises including few freebies, Ilmi said she is not aware of it.

VOICE OF PEOPLE BACK IN PARLIAMENT, SAYS SIDDU ON RAHUL'S RETURN AS MP

BENGALURU: State Congress leaders celebrated the return of former AICC president Rahul Gandhi as a Member of Parliament, while many took to social media to express their happiness. Chief Minister Siddaramaiah: "Voice of Common People is back to Parliament. This again proves that there is always a light at the end of the tunnel." KPCC working president Saleem Ahmed said, "Former AICC president Shri Rahul Gandhi is back as MP, We are overwhelmed with happiness as India's beloved leader is back to fight for people's issues. Truly the `Tiger' is back in parliament." Industries Minister MB Patil said, "In the background of the Supreme Court judgment, the Lok Sabha Ministry, our leader Shri RahulGandhi Parliament revoked his disqualification. Best wishes to Shri Rahul Gandhi on re-entering Parliament. He will be the voice of the country in the Lok Sabha." Indian Youth Congress President BV Srinivas said, "People's leader Rahul Gandhi is back."

KUMARASWAMY GOING TO CAMBODIA TO ATTEND SaRa MAHESH'S BIRTHDAY BASH

BENGALURU: JDS senior leader HD Kumaraswamy, who arrived in Bengaluru after a ten-day vacation in Iceland, is likely to go on another foreign jaunt, this time to the East. He is expected to go to Cambodia along with former minister SaRa Mahesh and others to celebrate Mahesh's birthday. Kumaraswamy, in the meantime, has replaced Bandeppa Kashempur with GT Devegowda as the president of the core committee. While Kashempur lost the Assembly poll, Devegowda won from Chamundeshwari in Mysuru. Kumaraswamy said that once he returns from his Cambodia trip, he will hold a series of meetings to discuss ways to strengthen the party. This could also be a last, long foreign trip for Kumaraswamy as the Lok Sabha elections are just seven months away. He recently launched a scathing attack on the Congress government. In reply, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah had ridiculed the former chief minister saying he is a hit-and-run case.

JNU V-C seeks grants to revive Kannada Studies Chair

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Tumakuru

IS Karnataka lagging behind in promoting Kannada in the country's prestigious Jawaharlal Nehru University? The Kannada Studies Chair, instituted in October 2015 with annual aid of Rs 50 lakh by the government, has been in suspension since August 2020 after the head of the chair Purushottama Bilimale retired. The state government has not taken an initiative either to appoint a new professor or release grants.

Now, JNU Vice-Chancellor Santishree Dhulipudi Pandith is showing keen interest in reviving the chair, seeking Rs 10 crore as corpus, which she pressed for while delivering the 16th convocation address of Tumkur University. Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot thanked her and promised support from the Karnataka government. Higher Education Minister Dr M C Sudhakar remained noncommittal, saying the "government will do its part".

Speaking to TNIE, the vice-chancellor drew a parallel in promotion of languages by state governments. Tamil Nadu Chief Minister M K Stalin has given Rs 10 crore for Tamil, business magnate Shiv Nadar agreed to give Rs 5 crore while Sundar Pichai of Alphabet Inc also promised financial aid. Gujarat has given Rs 30 crore to promote studies on the Swami Narayan movement, Maharashtra Rs 10 crore, and Rs 25 crore separately for the Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj chair, while Assam CM Himanta Biswa Sarma instituted a chair after Srimanta Sankardev, scholar, saint and poet, with a Rs 10-crore corpus, she elaborated.

"Similarly, Karnataka can take such initiatives. The state has eight Jnanpith award winners, religious mutts and Anubhava Mantapa set up by Basavanna, there is cultural vibrancy with good offbeat movies and Yakshagana art. Releasing grants annually will not help the Chair's sustenance, so Rs 10 crore is required at one go," she suggested, adding that Infosys Foundation can also contribute through its CSR.

Kadugolla woman wins 1st rank in MSc Maths

ENS @ Tumakuru

A woman from the backward Kadugolla community has won three gold medals, securing the 1st rank in the MSc Mathematics stream. She was presented the medals at the 16th convocation of Tumkur University on Monday.

Asha LE, who is employed as a data scientist at a Bengaluru-based firm, hails from Lakkenahalli Gollarahatti hamlet in Gubbi taluk. Both her parents – Eeraiah and Gangamma -- are illiterate, but have backed their four daughters to secure a good education.

Youngest among the the siblings, Asha went against all odds, including the taboo of being left alone in a makeshift tent in a field far away from her house during the menstrual cycle. "I too am a victim of the custom, as I spent 22 days in a tent, which was like an inferno. I want to create awareness in the community against this practice," she said. Meanwhile, her three older sisters are educated, and are working at different levels. Asha is married to a businessman, Prakash, who is an MCom graduate, and has always supported her.

This positive news has come as a morale booster for the women of the community, following the death of a one-month-old baby girl, which had made headlines recently.

FIR quashed against BJP chief Nadda

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Dharwad bench of the Karnataka High Court on Monday quashed the FIR against BJP national president JP Nadda for allegedly violating the Model Code of Conduct (MCC) in a speech during campaigning for the May 10 Assembly elections.

In an election rally in Vijayanagara district on May 7, the BJP president had allegedly said the voters will be deprived of Central government schemes if the BJP loses the Assembly polls. The Election Vigilance Division had lodged a complaint with the police.

The BJP president had filed a petition in the High Court, seeking the quashing of the FIR. Justice M Nagaprasanna quashed the same. BJP state unit president and MP Nalin Kumar Kateel welcomed the HC order.

SC upholds ED arrest of Balaji

Apex court allows agency to take TN Minister into custody for 5 days till Aug 12

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday dismissed the petitions filed by Tamil Nadu Minister V Senthil Balaji and his wife Megala against a Madras High Court order upholding his arrest by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) in a money laundering case. The top court also allowed ED to take Balaji under custody for five days till August 12.

A bench of Justices A S Bopanna and M M Sundresh also directed the registry to place before the Chief Justice of India for appropriate orders to decide the larger issue of whether the 15 days period of custody should be only within the first 15 days of remand or spanning the entire period of investigation — 60 or 90 days — as the case may be, as a whole.

The apex court said the writ of habeas corpus was not maintainable against the arrest by the ED and the order of remand cannot be challenged in a habeas corpus plea. "Any 'custody' under Section 167 of CrPC would not only include police custody but also of other investigating agencies," the bench said. Section 167 (2) empowers a magistrate to authorise the detention of an accused in police custody beyond the period of 15 days if he is satisfied that adequate grounds exist for doing so.

Calling the section a "bridge between liberty and investigation performing a fine balancing act," the court in its 87-page verdict authored by Justice Sundresh also said curtailment of 15 days of police custody by any extraneous circumstances, act of God, an order of court not being the handy work of investigating agency would not act as a restriction. Additionally, the court also ruled that section 41A of CrPC which mandates police officers to issue notice of appearance to a person against whom reasonable complaint has been made, or credible information has been received, or a reasonable suspicion exists that he has committed a cognisable offence does not apply to an arrest made under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002, (PMLA).

CISF cop honey-trapped by Pakistani woman

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Visakhapatnam

IN a honey trap case, a Central Industrial Security Force (CISF) constable was booked on Monday for allegedly passing on classified information to a woman PIO (Pakistani Intelligence Operative).

The accused was identified as Kapil Kumar Jagdish Bhai Devumurari who has been working at the CISF unit (fire wing) of Visakhapatnam Steel Plant (VSP) in Visakhapatnam for the past one year. He was earlier posted at Bharati Dynamics Ltd Bhanur in Hyderabad in 2017.

Central Industrial Security Force inspector at VSP, S Saravanan, in his complaint with the Visakhapatnam Police, said that they had summoned Kapil Kumar for questioning based on a tip-off that the constable was in contact with the woman PIO.

"When the constable's phone was examined, the PIO's name was found saved in his phone against the name, Tamisha," the CISF inspector said in his complaint even as he suspected that the constable might have passed on classified information about security and the steel plant to the said phone number and deleted it from the device. The mobile needs to be sent to the cyber forensic lab for a thorough investigation.

The preliminary investigation had revealed that initially, on August 1, the constable had claimed that he had only two mobile phones in his possession.

However, one more Android phone was recovered when his physical belongings were searched by a team on August 4. This led to further doubt that the constable was hiding many aspects of his transactions with the PIO. Following this, the Central Industrial Security Force inspector sought thorough investigation into the modus operandi and mobile numbers of the PIO, social media profiles, and malicious applications used and sent by the Pakistani Intelligence Operative on various social media sites like Facebook and Instagram.

Speaking to The New Indian Express, DCP (South) Ananda Reddy said the PIO came into contact with the CISF constable on Facebook. "She introduced herself as Tamisha Singh and was a research student in Hyderabad. She had sent a file to Kapil Kumar requesting him to open it on a computer in the steel plant. Since he did not have access to the office computer, he tried to open it at a net centre. However, he could not open it, and he informed the PIO the same. There seems to be no transactions between them since then," the DCP said.

The Visakhapatnam police registered a case against the accused under Sections 4 and 9 read with three of the Official Secrets Act.

Director took money for shoot, didn't return: Bomman & Bellie

ENS @ Coimbatore

MONTHS after 'The Elephant Whisperers' won the Oscar for Best Documentary Short Film at the 95th Academy Awards, Bomman and Bellie, the mahouts featured in the documentary, have alleged that the film's director, Kartiki Gonsalves, had taken money from them to shoot scenes in the film and had not yet paid them back.

In an interview to a YouTube channel, the couple said, "The director gave us no money for featuring in the film. She said she didn't have money to shoot the marriage scene. So, we withdrew money from our granddaughter's post office account and spent it on the scene. Her claims that she returned the money and bought a car and a land plot for us are all lies." Bellie alleged that she lost peace of mind after the film's shoot.

When contacted by TNIE, Kartiki refused to comment on the allegations. On Saturday night, Sikhya Entertainment, the company that bankrolled the documentary, released a statement on behalf of the company and the director. They refuted the allegations and said Bellie and Bomman were compensated properly as per their contract.

IMI 5.0 to cover unvaxed kids, pregnant women

Deputy CM DK Shivakumar administers vaccine to an infant in Bengaluru on Monday | SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

INTENSIFIED Mission Indradhanush 5.0, a vaccination programme, was launched at Austin Town Maternity Hospital, Shantinagar, by Karnataka Deputy Chief Minister and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar on Monday.

Intensified Mission Indradhanush (IMI) 5.0 focuses on reaching children aged between 0 and 5 years, and pregnant women who have missed vaccine doses. They will be covered under the universal immunisation programme.

"Under IMI 5.0, children and pregnant women who are deprived of vaccination due to reasons such as Covid-19, illness and migration, will be covered," Shivakumar said.

According to doctors at the Palike, some diseases can be prevented only by vaccination, like diphtheria, polio, tuberculosis, measles, Hepatitis B, pneumonia and others. Haemophilus influenzae Type B, which causes meningitis, can also be blunted through vaccination.

BBMP, which organised the IMI 5.0 campaign, has identified 1,487 unvaccinated pregnant women and 7,467 unvaccinated 0-5 year-old children for the first round of vaccinations, to be held from August 7 to 12. The second round will be held from September 11 to 16, and the third round from October 9 to 14. The drive will be especially effective for measles and rubella.

In all, 1,067 vaccination camps, including 114 mobile teams, will be deployed for six days at BBMP Anganwadi, health institutions and community centres.

Administrator Rakesh Singh, Chief Commissioner Tushar Giri Nath, Special Commissioner (Health) Dr KV Thrilok Chandra, Joint Commissioner, Chief Health Officer (Public Health) Dr Balasunder, Chief Health Officer (Clinical) Dr Nirmala Buggi and others were present.

The edtech company did not respond to the calls made by The New Indian Express.

MAMMOTH IDEA

Bandipur foresters' innovation prevents man-jumbo conflict

B K LAKSHMIKANTHA @ Mysuru

A simple idea of erecting barricades between the elephant proof trench (EPT) and agriculture lands in forest border areas appears to have prevented elephants from straying into human settlements.

It was the brainchild of foresters at the Bandipur Tiger Reserve as the department had witnessed regular straying of elephants into villages in border areas. As a prevention measure, foresters had dug EPTs, but the elephants continued to stray into the villages. Even after purchasing discarded rails from the Railway Department spending around Rs 1.3 crore to lay just 1 km of barricade, foresters had failed to prevent elephants from crossing the barricade.

Bandipur Tiger Reserve Director P Ramesh Kumar said they are erecting the rail barricade near EPTs towards the village side. Earlier, the rail barricades were erected towards the forest side near EPTs which allowed elephants to climb the barricades and later cross the trench easily. Under the new method, it is difficult for elephants to cross the barricade.

The rail barricades near Bandipur Tiger Reserve

BTR Gundlupet Division ACF K Paramesh said it has been implemented on an 8-km border stretch between Hediyala and Moliyur forest ranges, while the work is going on at the Nugu forest range. The 2-km stretch at Maddur range has been completed. "We have also allowed farmers to install metal fences or nets to the rail barricades to prevent wild boars, deer, and other smaller animals from entering the fields," he added. Mahadevappa, a farmer from Gundlupet, said, "With the new initiative by foresters, elephant straying has stopped."

BJP READY TO REWORK POLITICAL PACTS WITH REGIONAL PARTIES

One expected electoral pyrotechnics between the ruling BJD and its principal opposition BJP ahead of the all-important 2024 polls but Union Home Minister Amit Shah's dashing down to Odisha has seemingly changed the political dynamics in a single day. On Friday, Shah and Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik shared the dais with an unexpected public display of bonhomie. The former heaped praise on Naveen and received reciprocation for the Centre's cooperation from the latter. The mutual admiration left political parties bemused, but also signalled the altering course of political alliances in India. It is a win-win situation for BJD, which enjoys a brute majority in the state, and the party will have everything going for it when the next polls arrive.

For the BJP's state unit, though, the path forward is muddled. Currently besieged by infighting, it will have a tough job explaining the Central leadership's political stand to its workers and voters. In the meeting with state leaders, Shah may have asserted that his outing with Naveen was not to be taken at face value, but it surely dents his party's posture of being against BJD, with elections only months away. For history's sake, it would be prudent to remember that it was the tough-talking Shah who, just before the 2019 polls, had set Mission 120 for his state unit, pushing them to toss the BJD government into the Bay of Bengal.

But politics on the national stage has played out differently of late. The BJD extended a helping hand every time BJP needed it in Parliament on crucial issues, and it was no different this time around when the opposition moved a no-trust motion and significant legislation required support at least in the Rajya Sabha where the national party does not have adequate numbers. Shah flying down to Bhubaneswar a day after BJD supported the Delhi Services Bill indicates the BJP is willing to rework its political game plan with regional parties in exchange for guaranteed support in Parliament. The strategy prevents the anti-BJP alliance, INDIA, from gaining more regional parties. But it also threatens to stymie BJP's expansion plans in states like Odisha, where it aims to gain more seats in the next general elections to compensate for losses in other regions. The BJP-BJD or BJP-YSRCP 'Bhai Bhai' perception in the public's mind might just backfire for the saffron party vis-à-vis seat numbers.

PAKISTAN'S NOD TO WORLD CUP IN INDIA A BIG RELIEF

The romance and excitement of an India versus Pakistan cricket match never fade. No matter the setting, the anticipation is pulsating when men in blue and green gather for a game of cricket. Unsurprisingly, the governments of both countries are cautious when discussing cricket. The sport, after all, generates ridiculous passion among fans. Days after one of the most romantic figures of the India-Pakistan rivalry, cricketer-turned-politician Imran Khan, was arrested again, the Pakistan government's nod to its team for the ODI World Cup comes as a welcome relief, ending all kinds of speculations. Such is the sensitivity that instead of Pakistan's cricket board (PCB), its external affairs ministry made the announcement. The ministry said it is sending the team because "Pakistan has consistently maintained that sports should not be mixed with politics." But in cricket, politics and sports do go hand in hand.

Signs were ominous when India refused to travel to Pakistan for the Asia Cup. The PCB reluctantly proposed a hybrid model that allowed India to play their matches in Sri Lanka, including the final. Pakistan's statement referred to this refusal and said they took a "constructive and responsible approach". They also raised concerns about security for their team and requested the ICC and the Indian authorities to ensure their "safety and security". Even India is taking this seriously. The schedule of at least three games involving Pakistan is yet to be finalised because they coincide with two major Hindu festivals in the country.

Things looked up when Pakistan allowed its football team to visit India for the SAF Cup last month, and now the hockey team for the Asia Cup. Though signs are positive, diplomatic ties must improve for sports to flourish. There have been no bilateral series since the 2012–13 season (hosted by India), but both countries have been playing ICC events and the Asia Cup abroad. India last played Pakistan during the 2022 T20 World Cup in Australia. The Pakistan team last visited India in 2016 for the T20 World Cup.

This could lead to a revival of bilateral series, but even cricketing relations must improve. India can rethink their decision of not allowing Pakistan players in the IPL. Teams from England and Australia have already started visiting Pakistan. Indeed, sports and politics should not mix, but for India-Pakistan, when it comes to cricket, can politics be far behind?

QUICK TAKE

COMPETING MOCK MEATS

Recent food surveys reveal India's mock meat consumption may reach $48 million by 2026. And the market may soon witness battles between competing slaughter-free meats. Soy chunks today lead India's substitute meat market. The plant-based meat with a meat-like texture and taste is a well-received street food already. Western companies are now surveying India and China to create a demand for cultured meat sourced from cultivating animal cells in laboratories. Indian molecular biology institutes are also researching this cell-based meat. Changing urban lifestyles and the wellness factor may be promoting non-slaughtered meat. The substitutes are welcome for health reasons, not necessarily ideological or political.

There are enough detractors in Pakistan who would want the international community to remain concerned about J&K

JAMMU AND KASHMIR: FOUR YEARS ON, A CAUTIOUS ELATION

LT GEN SYED ATA HASNAIN (RETD)

Former Commander, Srinagar-based 15 Corps. Now Chancellor, Central University of Kashmir

SOURAV ROY

The Kulgam encounter in South Kashmir on August 4, 2023, which left three Army soldiers killed in action, has justifiably dampened the celebratory mood for the fourth anniversary of the decision to amend Article 370. However, it may also sound cautious that some security concerns can continue to demand focus from the national security perspective. More on security later in this column.

A decision that looked almost impossible without J&K imploding found a voice on August 5, 2019. Four years later, we are cementing the takeaways from the courageous decision and reviewing the distance we have gone in this exercise. In light of the changing contours of security threats, J&K may have dropped a few notches in priority at the cost of the northern borders and some other areas of internal security. Yet by no means has progress not been achieved; in almost every parameter, social, economic or security, there are visible signs of stabilisation and transformational change. As an analyst, I will still need to tread cautiously before declaring a situation of conflict termination. The factors have sufficiently changed to term these only as the last vestiges of conflict stabilisation.

The decision of August 5 strategically achieved the removal of the idea that J&K was a state/territory different from others within the Union of India. Rationale demanded no special powers to the Assembly, no special laws on citizenship, no special flag and no special Constitution. The decision to bifurcate the territory into two union territories (UTs) may not have found favour with the residents of the erstwhile state of J&K.

However, it has been a boon for the UT of J&K because of the direct oversight that the Centre has been able to exercise over it. Much of the problem earlier was due to the perception mismatch between the Centre and the state. The stabilisation process had a crying need for convergence of political interests, which has been achieved through this measure. But despite an almost two-year hiatus in development activity due to the pandemic, J&K could be the state/UT seeing the fastest economic growth today.

Like the Northern Ireland model of counter-terrorism, which achieved stability through economic growth coupled with much-improved security, J&K's current leadership under Lt Governor Manoj Sinha is doing well to adopt a similar policy. Tourism is up and running, and the Shri Amarnathji Yatra is drawing hordes of pilgrims who also indulge in tourism. Flights to Srinagar airport are numerous, including some at night. The initiative to permit and successfully conduct the Muharram processions in Srinagar has been a personal achievement for the Lt Governor and conveyed a message of supreme confidence. His attendance at the same was an excellent symbolic gesture reflective of his genuine understanding of syncretic culture.

A drive to Sonamarg and Baltal takes one through Ganderbal, thriving with big stores and shops I never saw before. There are coffee and tea shops galore, something missing for many years. Kashmir's urban centres seem to attempt to catch up with all they missed out on during the development surge in the rest of India post the 1991 reforms. Film theatres have opened in places such as Baramulla, and the young are leading the 'happiness revolution', which seems apparent.

All this is extremely good, but my advice to the Administration would be to concentrate on winter logistics. The Kashmiris have rarely been comfortable in winter. With the improving power situation and hopefully more people paying for power usage, there should also be sufficient stocking of essential supplies to overcome the inevitable issue of road closure. The road closure may be treated as a security issue, and the Indian Air Force can hugely contribute through aerial supply of milk, fresh vegetables and medicines. The summer supply chain appears excellent as Kashmir's quality of fruits and vegetables can match New Delhi's.

It is security which is still a concern. Dying embers of militancy and terror can sometimes provide sparks which can reignite the fires that have burned in Kashmir all these years. Today's comparative silence is because of the strong presence of the Rashtriya Rifles (RR) and the integration with the J&K Police and the CAPFs. Recruitment and infiltration figures have shown a marked drop, but both can return with a vengeance once the conditions for sponsorship of proxy war return in Pakistan.

There are enough detractors in Pakistan who would want the international community to remain concerned about J&K. Different forms of hybrid war can be employed by our wily adversaries, just as they found narcotics as a means of bringing Punjab to its knees; the illegal trans-border drone movement from Pakistan continues unabated, bringing narcotics, fake currency, weapons and ammunition. Most of these are intercepted, but some do get away. The intent is to cultivate turbulence in Punjab and the Jammu regions, the two being contiguous.

This year has seen Army casualties in the Pir Panjal South areas, indicating the presence of some hardcore groups in the higher reaches. A sudden appearance of terrorists in the higher regions of Kulgam could also mean these elements are migrating to the valley side to escape the dragnet in the Rajouri-Surankot belt. The Punjab-Jammu synchronisation by Pakistan cannot be allowed to continue unabated.

There are two issues we should remain extremely wary of: First, the Afghanistan–Pakistan area is again emerging as a hotbed of Islamic terrorists. The absence of the US from Afghanistan has a telling effect, with the Taliban ruling the roost. Under its sponsorship, Pakistan, too, is suffering the Tehrik-i-Taliban Pakistan's delinquency in the western tracts of the nation, with large-scale casualties. With global terror on the backfoot, a second cycle of global terror could be expected in a few months. J&K will be targeted to some extent. For that, a surge in recruitment and infiltration would be mandatory.

The second issue is the perception of India's legitimacy in its hold over J&K. We can expect that a new government in Pakistan would wish to establish its credentials through the clandestine cultivation of international opinion. For that, it has to demonstrate J&K's unhappiness with India. Proactive in this domain, one can expect Pakistan to launch a professional international campaign to achieve these objectives. In lieu of this, India needs to be pre-emptive and launch its own campaign.

DATA BILL 2023: ONE STEP CLOSER TO A THRIVING DIGITAL ECOSYSTEM

ANIL K ANTONY
National Secretary of BJP, and a graduate of Stanford University

ADARSH KUNIYILLAM
Parliament and policy analyst

Prime Minister Narendra Modi, while delivering the keynote address at the 2021 Sydney Dialogue, had remarked, 'We use data as a source of empowerment of people. India has unmatched expertise in doing this in a democratic framework with strong guarantees of individual rights.' The Digital Personal Data Protection (DPDP) bill, passed in the Lok Sabha on Monday, represents the fulfilment of this confidence and commitment.

The current age is often said to be the age of data, where it has become both the fuel and the driving force behind the digital economy. With the advent of 5G, the amount of data that would be produced is projected to increase multifold. The proliferation of smart devices, mobile internet and IoT devices would also exponentially increase data creation and data-producing sources. Massive volumes of data created are already being dissected and analysed by cutting-edge AI algorithms to make informed decisions across sectors and enhance the processes around them. Data-driven insights have become crucial for gaining a competitive edge, identifying patterns, predicting trends, and understanding customer behaviour.

As data became increasingly central to modern life, it also became a norm for various tech firms, governments, and corporations across the globe to gain access to unregulated databases containing public data, using it for their means without the knowledge or consent of the individuals involved. Cybercriminals and hackers also started gaining access to inadequately secured databases, harming users and organisations. It became a pressing need to establish robust frameworks for data-related activities.

The European Union (EU) took a pioneering step by introducing the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) in 2018. Subsequently, other major digital markets followed suit by enacting regulations in this domain. The EU's GDPR and China's Personal Information Protection Law (PIPL) share significant similarities. Both regulations grant the users the right to access, correct, and even delete their personal information held by business entities. Furthermore, the GDPR and PIPL impose substantial fines for non-compliance with the regulations. PIPL, however, gives enough leeway for the Chinese government and public sector to harvest the data of their billion-plus population, allowing them to train their already formidable AI algorithms, create next-generation technology solutions, and also gain insights into various aspects of society and individual behaviour. This also enables absolute state overreach.

The Data Privacy and Protection Act, introduced in the US Congress in 2021, has yet to be enacted as federal legislation due to resistance from various big tech companies. Some US states have taken matters into their own hands by enacting their own laws, primarily focusing on safeguarding individuals' personal space from government intrusion. The EU's GDPR, supported by the European Charter, grants jurisdiction over both governments and corporations. However, most entrepreneurs perceive these laws as overly restrictive, potentially impeding innovation.

> Consent would become the standard practice now, where data fiduciaries can process personal data only after obtaining explicit approval from the data principal

India is the fastest-growing digital economy with the world's third-largest startup ecosystem. Additionally, we are the second-largest producer of data globally. Leveraging non-invasive vast databases, coupled with the innovative India Stack architecture, India has successfully developed digital public goods that are now garnering widespread global adoption. The government is also actively encouraging non-personal data and anonymised datasets to be used as digital public goods.

The DPDP Bill clearly defines essential terms, including data, and the roles and responsibilities of key stakeholders. Data fiduciaries are identified as entities or individuals, including in the government and private sectors, who would store, collect, or use personal data for various purposes. Data principals refer to the individuals whose data is being processed by the data fiduciaries. Consent would become the standard practice now, where data fiduciaries can process personal data only after obtaining explicit approval from the data principal. This consent is limited to the specific purposes for which it was originally given. If and when the data principal chooses to withdraw their consent, the data fiduciary must stop further processing of the personal data and erase it within a reasonable timeframe.

Almost a third of India's internet users are projected to be between 12 and 17 by 2025. Recognising the vulnerability of this demographic in the digital landscape and ensuring their protection, there are provisions including the need for verifiable consent from a lawful guardian before processing any of their data.

The Bill also prohibits data fiduciaries from processing any personal data that may harm the child's well-being and strictly forbids data fiduciaries from engaging in behavioural monitoring or tracking of children. The Bill imposes restrictions on transferring personal data for processing to countries and territories outside India. There could be fines up to a massive ₹250 crore for lapses in compliance.

Even governments are not exempted from any of the clauses in the Bill except in situations necessary for national security purposes or to maintain public order. A Data Protection Board (DPB) would act as the regulator overseeing and ensuring compliance with the new laws and taking necessary actions against violations. There are clearly laid provisions for alternative dispute resolution via mediation. The Bill also provides the right to appeal against orders issued by the regulatory body. The passage of the DPDP Bill in the House of the People is a significant step that would lead to a secure and accountable yet thriving Indian digital ecosystem.

Violence normalised

Manipur and Nuh are proof that violence has become commonplace in India. The foundational principle of pluralism is severely strained under the Modi-led BJP government. People should unite against the government's nefarious agenda of staying in power by creating divisions in society.

Congrats, Prannoy

H S Prannoy finishing runner-up at the Australian Open Super 500 badminton tournament deserves praise. With a 19-14 lead in the decider, the Indian shuttler was on track for victory, but the gritty Chinese player raised his game. Nevertheless, it was a stirring display from the Indian player.

N J Ravi Chander, Bengaluru

Opposition-mukt

By Amit Shah saying Pawar is now finally seated at 'the right place after a long time', does this mean that those who join forces with the BJP are in the right place while others are not? If all the politicians in India do an 'Ajit Pawar' to occupy the 'right place', India will soon become 'Opposition-mukt'. Thankfully, no well-meaning Indian wants such a situation.

Junta's actions

This is with reference to the column, Manipur-Myanmar binary: Blame junta, not its victims (Aug 7). The columnist has clearly expressed how India has misunderstood that the junta regime will help with two aims: to restrict Chinese influence and to help fight the Northeast insurgency groups. The junta failed in both. The government should wake up and reassess its Northeast policy to restore peace in Manipur.

Shravan reflections

Ref: Shravan musings on the mystery of Shiva (Aug 7). Renuka Narayanan has glorified Shiva, saying that he has 'saulabhyam' (easy accessibility) and is 'ashutosh' (easily pleased). Every small act of kindness is a form of meditation. The comparison of Lord Vishnu and Lord Shiva as deities of devotion and knowledge, respectively, is also very apt. This excellent piece is itself an offering to Lord Shiva.

G Nataraja Perumal, Tenkasi

Shiva's greatness

Only a Renuka Narayanan, steeped in faith ever since she was four, could capture the macrocosmic Shiva in a short article. The explanation on Shiva's multiple facets, coupled with kindness, charity, etiquette and ethics, make for a sublime read.

'We have to stand true to people's expectations in J&K'

The biggest change in last four years is that the end of street violence has brought big relief to state's common man, says Jammu & Kashmir L-G Manoj Sinha

IT has been four years since the abrogation of Article 370, and three years since the present Lieutenant-Governor Manoj Sinha took charge of the state. He spoke to Shahid Faridi, Rajesh Kumar Thakur and Fayaz Wani about how far the Union and the state governments have been able to achieve the goals they had set in terms of ending militancy in the troubled state and bringing economic prosperity for its people. Excerpts:

How have you fared on the economic front, as it was said that Article 370 was the biggest obstacle on the road to prosperity? What have been the biggest benefits of revoking the Article?

I would like to say that street violence has largely ended. Now, the common man can live on his own terms. Our neighbour is constantly attempting to facilitate infiltration, but our security forces and the Army are always on alert to thwart any such attempt. About the advantages of nullification of Article 370 and 35A, I have to say three things: Today the common man is feeling relieved that there is no street violence and that it was sponsored. I would not like to go into the reasons of why it used to happen.

Secondly, there used to be bandh calls by secessionists and terrorists on more than 150 days a year. Schools, colleges, businesses, trade, traffic etc would come to a standstill. This has ended. You can find people shopping even at 10 pm. People can be seen playing guitar and relaxing at Dal Lake till late. It may seem a small thing, but it is a big change.

I feel the biggest change is that the state's common man can live his life the way he wants. This change has benefitted the poor people the most. Auto-drivers, hawkers, restaurant workers, shikara-walas and houseboat owners bore the brunt of the bandhs. With peace returning, 1.88 crore tourists visited Kashmir last year. This year, till July-end, 1.27 crore tourists have visited Kashmir.

These numbers will be over 2.25 crore. The government employees were in any case not attending office. With bandh calls, they got a reason to skip their duty. This had adversely impacted development work. All this has changed now.

The year I came here, around 9,000 projects were cleared, this year more than 92,000 projects have been cleared.

Militancy and stone-pelting have declined, but targeted killings have increased since January this year. Migrant workers and Kashmiri Pandits are being targeted. What steps have you taken to check this?

These acts were committed intentionally, with a plan. But if we take the figures of last 15-20 years, I think the situation is better now. But I don't want to go into figures. Even if one man's life is lost, it is a loss and it must not be there. The people's expectation from our government has increased now. We have to stand true to the expectations. The entire terror ecosystem is being dismantled through a meticulously planned strategy. It is true that our attention was more on the Valley, but now security has been tightened and results are encouraging from other parts as well. We have a government in Delhi that is not interested in buying peace. We want to establish permanent peace.

On the economic front, the state doesn't seem to have done very well. According to a reply by MoS Home Nityanand Rai in the Lok Sabha, the total investment in J&K has declined by 55% from ₹840.55 crore in 2017-18 to ₹376.76 crore in 2021-22...

In 2021, a new industrial scheme was framed. After Independence and before 2021, total private investment was approximately ₹13,000-14,000 crore. You are talking about 2017 and 2021, the investment figures were what you have mentioned. Today, we have received proposals worth more than ₹80,000 crore. Today, I can say that projects worth ₹27,000-28,000 crore are on the ground and some of them are going to be completed within 3-4 months while some will take 2-3 years..

The department of industry in J&K has said that more than 90% proposals for land allotment requests have come from locals and outside investors have not come in expected numbers. Why is it so?

It is matter of great satisfaction that the locals are investing. Outsiders have also made investments. I can name one of them and it is Jindal steel company, which is investing here. Cold storages are being built by the locals here. The horticulture produce is on the rise and it has reached about 18 lakh metric tonnes. And the production is set to double with our new scheme.

The land leases of commercial establishments and residential plots are expiring. There is confusion whether or not the government will renew them. What is the government policy?

There is no confusion. We have formed new land grant rule. There was no policy for the renewal of the land lease. It was being done arbitrarily earlier. A transparent policy has now been framed and leases will be renewed as per the law of land.

> The entire terror ecosystem is being dismantled through a meticulously planned strategy. It is true that our attention was more on the Valley, but now security has been tightened and results are encouraging from other parts as well
> Manoj Sinha

Will the old residential and commercial land leases be extended on payment of a fee?

The policy has been formed for the commercial land lease. The policy for residential land will also soon be framed. Everything will be done as per a transparent policy.

The delimitation has been completed. When will panchayat and Assembly elections be held?

You may know that on October 31, 2019, Parliament had passed the State Reorganisation Act, making J&K a UT. After delimitation, seven seats have been added to its assembly. Unless their boundaries are defined, how can elections be held? The delimitation was needed and the work is now complete. The Home Minister gave a statement in Parliament that delimitation is the first step, followed by assembly elections and then the restoration of statehood at an appropriate time. The voter lists are needed to be updated. Whenever the ECI will decide and take a call, we are ready to get the assembly elections conducted. We will also try to hold panchayat polls on time.

There has also been a talk of giving land to the people from outside the state. Has your government given plots to outsiders?

I can say with full authority that not a single inch of land has been given to the people of other states. This is a planned propaganda. Under PMAY, those who are eligible and have no land have been provided government land. Under this scheme, 2,711 residents of J&K have been given houses and 40,000 houses under the PMAY have been given to the people belonging to the Scheduled Tribes, including 8,000 to the people of Bakarwal community. Some people are indulging in spreading falsehood.

Not a single inch of land has been given to outsiders. Citizens of J&K have been given the same protection in agricultural land that the people of Himachal Pradesh and Uttarakhand enjoy. However, those who come forward for industrial investment here, even if they are from outside the state, will be provided land.

How has J&K moved on education and employment fronts?

We have created a department called mission youth. About 30,000 vacant government posts have been filled up in the last three years in a transparent way. Gone are the days when jobs were given on recommendations. Jobs will now be given only on merit and in a transparent way. We have taken a lot of steps to boost self-employment. Over 5 lakh youth have got employment. We are running a programme called 'back to village' under which a group of 15 youth are identified in each panchayat. They are supported in self-employment efforts. In a single day, Rs 939 crore was distribursed to 75,000 youth under the scheme.

The startup ecosystem is gathering pace. As many as 550 startups have started.

We have also started the holistic agricultural programme. Around seven lakh women have been linked with SHGs. Many of our products have got the GI tags and their exports have started. As far as education is concerned, we have formed an education council. We are sorting out legacy issues. We hope for a better future of J&K.

'Higher judiciary suffers from diversity-deficit'

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

THE higher judiciary suffers from a 'diversity-deficit' as the representation of SCs, STs, OBCs, women and minorities is far below the desired levels, according to a parliamentary committee report. In recent years, there has been a declining trend in representation from all the marginalised sections of India society, said the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Personnel, Public Grievances, Law and Justice in its report

"Our higher judiciary suffers from a 'diversity deficit'. The representation of SCs, STs, OBCs, women, and minorities in the higher judiciary is far below the desired levels and does not reflect the social diversity of the country," said the panel, under chairmanship of BJP Rajya Sabha MP Sushil Kumar Modi, after deliberations on 'Judicial Processes and their Reforms.

Advocating for equal representation in the higher judiciary, the committee said that "adequate representation of various sections of Indian society will further strengthen the trust, credibility, and acceptability of the judiciary among the citizens". It has also been stated that the government has informed that the need for ensuring adequate representation has also been acknowledged by the SC collegium.

After studying all pros and cons, the Committee has shared its view that while making recommendations for appointments to the higher Judiciary, both the SC and the HC collegiums should recommended an adequate number of women and candidates from marginalised sections of the society, including minorities.

Another notable point in the report is that the demand for having regional benches is the fundamental right under the Constitution. "The regional benches may also be seen as a solution to overflowing caseloads of the judiciary and to reduce the litigation cost of the common man", the committee stated, adding that Delhi-centric SC causes a big hurdle for those from far-flung areas.

It has said that the SC may invoke Article 130 of the Constitution for establishing its regional benches at four or five locations in the country.

BILL ON MEDIATION PROCEDURES PASSED

The Lok Sabha on Monday passed a bill that seeks to provide legal framework to mediation and reduce burden on courts. Introducing the Mediation Bill, 2021, in the Lower House, Law Minister Arjun Ram Meghwal said it provides "legal backbone" to mediation. The bill will also promote ease of doing business as many of petty disputes would be cleared through this alternative dispute resolution mechanism.

J&K PHARMACISTS TO BE RECOGNISED

The Lok Sabha on Monday passed a bill allowing persons qualified or registered under the Jammu and Kashmir Pharmacy Act to be recognised under the Pharmacy Act, thus doing away with the ambiguity over the two legislations. On the Pharmacy (Amendment) Bill, 2023, Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya said that this will increase opportunities for the youth of J&K.

3 LAKH HA FORESTS DIVERTED IN 15 YEARS

Over three lakh hectares of forest land has been diverted for non-forestry use in India over the last 15 years under the Forest (Conservation) Act, 1980, Union Environment Minister Bhupender Yadav told Lok Sabha on Monday. Data showed 61,318 hectares of forest land in Punjab, the maximum among all states and union territories, has been diverted since 2008-2009.

No reason to disbelieve efforts to make cheetah project a success: SC

SHRUTI KAKKAR @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday said it found no reason to disbelieve the Centre's efforts to make the cheetah project a success. The court disposed of the plea seeking prevention of cheetah deaths in Kuno National Park. The animals were translocated from South Africa and Namibia.

> 'Project better left to experts than judiciary'
> A bench of Justices BR Gavai, PS Narasimha and PK Mishra said the Centre's Project Cheetah was better left to the wisdom of experts in the field rather than the judiciary

A bench of Justices BR Gavai, PS Narasimha and PK Mishra said the project was better left to the wisdom of experts in the field rather than the judiciary.

"Constitution of the committee is alright, but the concern of general public and NGOs... what steps are being taken? Once the translocation take place, was it thought about? What you've done after the death is the consequences but we are talking about something else," Justice PS Narasimha asked during the hearing. Justice Gavai added, "Why have 9 deaths been reported?"

Disputing media reports highlighting deaths of nine translocated cheetahs, ASG Aishwarya Bhati said that 14 were surviving out of 20. Terming the same as "factually incorrect", she said that the reports which mentioned 9 deaths also included 3 cubs which died due to them developing winter coats that led to infection.

Expressing concerns with regards to the death of 40% of cheetahs translocated from South Africa and Namibia to Kuno National Park in less than one year, the SC had said that it does not present a good picture of Project Cheetah.

The bench suggested Centre to consider moving them at another place and sought government's response on steps taken to prevent the fall in numbers.

Australia to host Quad's Malabar drill for first time

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

THE ten-day Malabar series of naval exercises – featuring navies of the United States, India, Japan and Australia (Quad group) – will get under way off the eastern coast of Australia this week.

> Focus on connecting forces
> Interoperability will be focus of maneuvers planned this year – with air defence, sea operations and under-sea threats to be in stress

Interoperability will be the focus of the maneuvers planned this year – with air defence, sea operations and under-sea threats to be in stress.

The Royal Australian Navy is hosting the event for the first time from August 11 to 21. Divided into two phases, the programmes will include a harbour phase at Sydney followed by sea exercises.

The Australian forces will field two warships – HMAS Choules and HMAS Brisbane. The Indian Navy will send destroyer INS Kolkata and multi-role stealth frigate INS Sahyadri. Besides, the US and Japan will send in one warship each. Additionally, the maritime forces of the US, India and Australia shall be fielding Boeing P8I maritime surveillance aircraft.

The number of warships is going to be less as unlike in the past, there will be no submarines or an aircraft carrier of any country at the exercise, sources said. But, the maritime exercise will involve 'very high-end complexity', sources added, which will focus towards "interoperability".

Border infra budget up 400% since 2014, LAC gets maximum, says EAM

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

THE budget for infrastructure development along India's border frontier has increased by 400 per cent, from ₹3,200 crore in 2014 to ₹14,300 crore, said External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on Monday.

"Before 2014, the border infrastructure was not developed, but post that period there has been a steady improvement which has enhanced our ability to counter and contest conflict in the border areas," said the External Affairs Minister (EAM), speaking on Border Infrastructure and Connectivity.

Nearly 80 per cent of the budgetary allocation for infrastructure development is utilised on the Indo-China border, the EAM told this newspaper. A major part of border road and connectivity is related to national security so it is pertinent to spruce it up, besides a major part is also to improve people to people connectivity like in Nepal, Sri Lanka, Bhutan.

"The Modi government has given emphasis on how to make life easier for those living in the border areas – which was neglected in the past. There is fundamental importance on infrastructure with regard to China. We have our view of LAC, they have their view of LAC. We don't have an agreed view of where we differ," said Dr Jaishankar adding that between 2008 and 2014 there was 3600 km border roads that were built and between 2014-22 this reached 6,800 km.

The Border Roads Organisation (BRO) is constructing close to 80 new roads and is involved in a big project in Arunachal Pradesh where 1,800 km roads of intervalley connectivity will be made at an estimated cost of ₹3,000 crore.

"Our current challenge with China has been for road building and tunnel building. BRO has made 4,445 km roads from Kashmir and Ladakh to Tripura at ₹9,000 crore," he said adding that there was no break in border talks with China.

Meanwhile, regarding its other neighbours which include Myanmar, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka, Nepal and Bhutan, the EAM highlighted many development projects. The only neighbour he didn't speak about was Pakistan.

Bilkis Bano case not a spur-of-moment incident: Counsel

Questioning the release of the 11 convicts who brutally gangraped Bilkis Bano, her counsel on Monday told the court that they had chased her with a "blood thirsty approach" to hunt Muslims and kill them. Asking the bench of Justices BV Nagarathna and Ujjal Bhuyan as to whether the convicts deserved leniency, Advocate Shobha Gupta said the incident was not a spur-of-moment case. "This is not a spur-of-moment incident. The convicts were chasing them, trying to find out where they had hidden. They were bloodthirsty. The bodies that could be recovered She kept pleading that she is like a sister to them as she knew all of them."

Bihar gets go-ahead for continuing with caste-based survey

The SC on Monday refused to halt Bihar government from conducting the caste-based survey for determination of backward communities. The first phase of the survey, a household counting exercise had begun on January 7 and was wrapped up by January 21. In the second phase, the aim was to collect date on people's caste and socio-economic condition had started on April 15 and it scheduled to end by May 2023. A bench of Justices Sanjiv Khanna and SV Bhati posted the pleas challenging Patna HC's verdict of upholding the move for August 14. The division bench remarked that there was no element of coercion in the exercise.

Guj AAP proposes, Cong disposes on united show in '24

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

GUJARAT AAP chief Isudan Gadhvi said on Monday that the Congress and his party will jointly contest the next year's Lok Sabha polls against the ruling BJP. The state Congress, however, has denied joining such a tie-up, saying it is unaware of any such move.

"The alliance of AAP and Congress, which has been named 'INDIA', is also applicable in Gujarat. The AAP and the Congress will share seats in the upcoming Gujarat Lok Sabha elections. We can be certain that if we do a decent job with seat distribution, the BJP will not be able to win 26 out of 26 seats in Gujarat this time," Gadhvi told the media in Ahmedabad on Monday.

"The INDIA alliance is a threat to the BJP, which is aware that our alliance will defeat it in the elections. That is why everyone in the BJP, including the Prime Minister and every BJP worker, repeatedly disparages the INDIA alliance," Gadhvi said.

When the media questioned Gadhvi about whether the coalition was decided in Delhi or by him, Gadhvi replied, "I met Arvind Kejriwal in Delhi, and seat-sharing is currently being discussed."

Gadhvi's claims contradicted Gujarat Congress which maintained that the party has not received any information about such an alliance.

Gujarat Congress spokesperson Manish Doshi said, "At this time, we have not formally constituted any kind of alliance with AAP. The Congress leadership in Delhi will decide it, but as of now, we haven't heard anything indicating that a decision has been made in Gujarat."

Relief to BJP MP as UP court stays conviction

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

BJP MP from Etawah Ram Shankar Katheria was saved from disqualification from Lok Saha as Agra session court stayed his conviction in a 12 -year-old case of assault on an official of Torrent Power Limited in 2011.

Katheria hailed the sessions court's order saying that justice had been done to him.

The former Union Minister of State for Human Resource Development was facing disqualification from the Lok Sabha after Special Magistrate MP/MLA Court had held Katheria guilty of the assault and rioting charges and sentenced him to two years in jail.

Kateria had moved Sessions court seeking stay on his conviction and jail term. His plea was accepted by the sessions court and it posted the matter for next hearing on September 11. The ruling party's sitting MP from Etawah was booked for thrashing the staff of Torrent Power in Agra in 2011 when BSP was at power.

Recounting the incident on November 16, 2011, Katheria on said, "It was a matter related to an SC woman, who irons clothes. She had complained to me about getting excessive electricity bill from Torrent."

Baghel govt clears way for 58% quota in education

Reservation for admission process should be same as for jobs: CM

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

AHEAD of the assembly polls, the Bhupesh Baghel cabinet took a decision on Monday to implement 58 per cent reservation for the scheduled tribes, scheduled caste and other backward classes in the admission process for educational institutions of the state.

The decision follows the interim relief given by the Supreme Court staying the Chhattisgarh High Court order in May this year. The apex court allowed the state to continue with the appointment or selection procedures as per the pre-existing reservation system.

Last year in September, the Chhattisgarh High Court had quashed the 58 per cent reservation in educational institutions and jobs as "unconstitutional". In 2012, the BJP regime led by then Raman Singh government raised the quotas up to 58 per cent in educational institutions and government jobs. The reservation for the SCs was reduced from 16 per cent to 12 per cent, while increasing the same for STs to 32 per cent. The quota for OBCs at was kept at 14 per cent.

58% RESERVATION: Last year, the Chhattisgarh High Court quashed the state government decision. In May this year, the Supreme Court stayed HC order.

"In accordance with the interim order, the Bhupesh Baghel cabinet has decided to conduct the admission process in the educational institutions of the state under the earlier reservation system," said the official spokesperson.

"Recruitments have already begun (under the 58 per cent reservation) but there were some discrepancies emerging in the admissions to the colleges. The reservation process that applies to job recruitment should also be the same in the admission process. So, the decision was taken in the cabinet," said the chief minister.

The opposition BJP claimed that the Bhupesh government yielded to their persistent demand in interest of tribal communities. "The CM is known to take a decision weighing the political gain or loss. But the cabinet decision was taken under compulsion owing to our protest and demand for the rights of tribals," said Ramvichar Netam, senior BJP tribal leader and Rajya Sabha member.

Govt nod to ex-NRC boss' VRS application

Prateek Hajela is hanging up his boots. The Assam government has approved the IAS officer's (Assam-Meghalaya cadre) VRS application but he will have to face two cases filed against him in connection with the updation of National Register of Citizens (NRC). Hajela, who completed his three-year inter-cadre deputation in his home state of Madhya Pradesh, earlier served as NRC's Assam coordinator. One of the cases against him was filed by Hitesh Dev Sarma who succeeded him in the NRC office. He alleged Hajela helped illegal Bangladeshi migrants get their names included in the NRC draft.

Assam witnesses steady rise in tiger population

There has been a constant rise in Assam's tiger population. According to the latest government data released on the International Tiger Day, Assam has 227 tigers. The state had 70 tigers in 2006. The figure rose to 143 in 2010. In 2014, the population of the animal further increased to 167. It was 190 in 2018 and 227 in 2022. Assam has four tiger reserves – Manas, Kaziranga, Orang and Nameri. The population has increased in Manas, Kaziranga, Orang but dwindled from four to three in Nameri. A tiger rescued from Guwahati was released in Nameri last year but was killed by poachers.

OIL joins elite league, gets Maharatna status

The Oil India Limited (OIL) is ecstatic as the central government elevated the country's national exploration and production major to Maharatna category, 13 years after it earned Navaratna status. OIL joined the league of 12 other public sector undertakings. It posted a consolidated annual turnover of `41,039 crore and net profit of `9,854 crore in the last fiscal. With a rich legacy of the first discovery of crude oil at Digboi in Assam in 1889, followed by post-independence discoveries at Naharkatiya and Moran in 1953 and 1956 respectively, OIL has been relentlessly engaged in fuelling India's energy needs over past many decades.

No holiday for govt employees on I-Day in J&K

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

IN a first, the Lt Governor administration has asked the employees to attend their offices on Independence Day for flag hoisting ceremony and warned of action against the employees who remain absent on the day.

"No government employee shall avail leave on Independence Day 2023 except under exceptional circumstances. All employees would invariably participate in the Independence Day celebrations," an official document reads.

August 15 is a public holiday and all government offices, banks and educational institutions remain closed across the country. The J&K government has barred its employees from skipping the office on August 15 except under exceptional circumstances.

"As per the circular of government, all the staff is hereby directed to attend the office on August 15. Action warranted against rules shall be taken against those who stay away and remain absent," reads a circular issued by one of the government departments for its employees.

The main Independence Day function in J&K would be held at Sheri Kashmir Cricket Stadium at Sonawar in Srinagar.

Manipur violence: Police confused by ransacking of armouries

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

THE deadliness of the Manipur violence is due to the firearms looted from police, which are now in the hands of aggressors. At last count, more than 4,050 guns and 49,500 cartridges were brazenly stolen from various police locations.

The result is that most of the 123 Kuki-Zo victims of the approximately 200-plus deaths, were shot dead and the most recent evidence was the fatal shooting down of a mentally challenged woman two days ago, by a suspected stolen police weapon.

As the entire village of Langgol was burnt down in Imphal Valley in Saturday evening's mayhem, militants were said to have been armed with guns. In many of the videos, groups are seen moving around with firearms, suspected to be stolen from the police.

Ginza Gualzong, spokesman of a reliable Manipuri organisation, Indigenous Tribal Leaders' Forum, explained, "These attackers are terrorists and they are moving around with stolen police weapons. Over 1,000 weapons were returned but what about the remaining weaponry? There are many bodies lying in different mortuaries but no one can get them because they might be shot dead."

Manipur DGP Rajiv Singh arrives at the Supreme Court over violence in that state, in New Delhi on Monday | PTI

A well-known NGO, Commonwealth Human Rights Initiative (CHRI), has done a compilation based on the many FIRs disclosed on the Manipur website for Imphal East district, especially with regard to looting of police armouries, which point to glaring lapses in policing.

CHRI director Venkatesh Nayak said the language in the multiple FIRs appears to be the same -- there is mention of a mob attack and police warning them, and firing a warning shot in the air. Speaking to the The New Indian Express over phone, he said the language appears callously uniform in all the FIRs, and it is learnt that they have not sufficiently tried to restrain them through the law. For example, the Manipur State Police Training College armoury was looted with impunity not once, but twice, and it is surprising that no precautions were taken to prevent its recurrence."

Former DG&IGP Dr Ajai Kumar Singh, who was on the Supreme Court-appointed committee to look into extra-judicial killings in Manipur in 2016-17, said, "While there is no ambivalence in the law about the Standard Operating Practice on what police and official forces need to do when mobs attack and loot armouries, there appears to be confusion among the police and official forces there."

"The state has been burning for the past three months and cannot get extra precautionary security for the police armoury. This is terrible and an unpardonable dereliction of duty and negligence and incompetence of the police force," Singh asked.

"It appears as if the arms were gifted to them," said Ginza Gualzong.

Top Hizb militant killed in Poonch encounter, arms & ammunition recovered

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

A top militant commander of Hizbul Mujahideen and one of the oldest surviving militants who was active since 1996, was killed as security forces foiled an infiltration attempt by militants along the Line of Control (LoC) in Jammu and Kashmir's Poonch on Monday.

An army official said movement of two suspected persons was detected along the LoC in Poonch sector at around 2 am and the movement of the group was kept under constant surveillance through new generation electro optical devices.

Army also released a footage captured by thermal cameras showing two persons crossing into this side of LoC in the dark through a dense forest along the LoC.

"The militants were challenged when they attempted to cross LoC to this side. They opened fire on the troops, who retaliated. In the ensuing firefight, one militant was killed while another was injured and he sneaked back across the LoC taking advantage of thick foliage, rain and rocky terrain," the army official said.

The slain militant was identified as Muneser Hussain son of Sattar Mohammad R/o Bagyladra Poonch.

"An AK 56 rifle, 19 mm pistol with silencer, 1 magazine of AK rifle, 2 hand grenades, eatables and medicines were recovered from his possession," the army official said. A police official said the slain militant was active since 1996.

"1993 he went to PoK for arms training and returned in 1996. He again returned to PoK in 1998. He masterminded a number of attacks on security forces in Pir Panjal region comprising border districts of Rajouri and Poonch," he said. The police official said Hussain was Divisional Commander of Hizbul Mujahideen and was tasked to revive militancy in Rajouri and Poonch.

BJP wary as UP Cong wants Rahul back in Amethi

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE Congress and the ruling BJP are set to recast their strategy for 2024 parliamentary polls from Amethi and Rae Bareli, considered Congress bastions until 2019.

That is because Congress' Wayanad MP Rahul Gandhi has returned to Parliament after a gap of 137 days following a Supreme Court stay on his sentence in a criminal defamation case.

Currently, only Sonia Gandhi holds aloft the Congress flag in the Lok Sabha from UP by representing Rae Bareli. Till the 2019 general election, the party had two MPs – Sonia Gandhi from Rae Bareli and Rahul Gandhi from Amethi. However in 2019, while Sonia retained Rae Bareli, Rahul lost Amethi to BJP's Smirti Irani.

Rahul's return to Parliament has buoyed the party which believes that he'd contest again from Amethi in 2024.

The BJP is also weighing the possibility and appears keen to redraw its strategy in Amethi.

The enthusiasm among Congress activists was manifest when jubilant party workers in Amethi cut a 51-kg laddoo, burst crackers and distributed sweets to celebrate Rahul Gandhi's "victory" in the defamation case. Congress' former MLC Deepak Singh said the way the people of Amethi celebrated the SC stay on Rahul Gandhi's sentence, it was clear that they are would like to see his return to Amethi for the 2024 contest. "The people's mood in Amethi says it all," said Deepak Singh.

A UP Congress delegation is likely to meet Rahul Gandhi in Delhi after the monsoon session of Parliament to urge him to contest from Amethi again, said Singh.

On the other, UP minister of state for sports and minister incharge of Amethi Girish Yadav rejected exuberance. "As the minister in charge of Amethi, I am well aware of the people's mood. They know how things have changed in Amethi ever since BJP won. Union minister Smriti Irani, the local MP of Amethi, has done so much for the people that irrespective of the rival candidate against her, it will be a no-contest in her favour," said Yadav.

Irani has stepped up her visits. Between June and August alone, she has spent more than 50 days in her constituency. She was in Amethi again on Sunday to launch a campaign for the redevelopment of 508 railway stations across the country. Fifty-five of these, including in Amethi and Rae Bareli, are in Uttar Pradesh.

Royal Bengal Tiger count up; big cat's next destination could be Bangladesh

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

THE report of the 5th cycle of India's tiger census, conducted in 2022 and released by Prime Minister Narendra Modi in April, revealed the total number of Royal Bengal Tigers has crossed three-digit figure for the first time in the Bay of Bengal's mangrove forests.

Moreover, the big cat's population has reached its saturation in Bengal's delta-zone, which is likely to result infiltration of the wild animals to Bangladesh.

Forest officials suggested trans boundary cooperation between India and Bangladesh should be initiated considering the scenario in the Bangal's delta region.

The forest officials said the carrying capacity of tiger population in 100 sq km almost reached its maximum level in the Bengal's mangroves. The big cats are likely to cross over creeks and rivers to infiltrate mangrove forests in the neighbouring country which occupy 16 per cent more mangroves comparing to West Bengal.

"At present, India's part of Sunderbans spreading over 1,895 sq km area of biosphere reserve and its adjoining areas is inhabited by 101 tigers and the density is 4.27 in per 100 sq km area. Sunderbans' tiger density was 3.6 in 2018 and its maximum tiger carrying capacity is 4.68 in 100 sq km and it appears, the carrying capacity of Bengal's mangrove region will reach its peak within a few years forcing big cats to cross over to the neighbouring country's forests in search of new home," said forest official.

Elaborating on the reason behind possible infiltration by Royal Bengal Tigers, the central report of the tiger census mentioned about human population is settled in west and north of Sajnekhali and Basirhat range in Sunderbans. "So Bengal's tigers have been left the only option — east where Bangladesh's mangrove forest is located," said another official.

NIGER'S JUNTA CLOSES AIRSPACE

Military says West African bloc preparing to send forces, warns of swift response

NIAMEY

NIGER closed its airspace due to the "threat of intervention" as the junta defied a deadline from the West African bloc ECOWAS to reinstate democratically elected President Mohamed Bazoum or face possible military action.

ECOWAS issued its ultimatum a week ago, demanding the generals relinquish power by Sunday midnight.

President Bazoum was overthrown on July 26 when members of his own guard detained him at the presidency.

"Faced with the threat of intervention, which is becoming clearer through the preparation of neighbouring countries, Niger's airspace is closed from this day on Sunday... for all aircraft until further notice," the junta said in a statement released shortly before the deadline passed.

Any attempt to violate the country's airspace would meet with an "energetic and immediate response", the statement from the junta added. Early on Monday, there were no aircraft operating in Niger's skies, according to the flight tracking website Flightradar24.

In a separate statement, the now-ruling National Council for the Safeguard of the Homeland (CNSP) said there had been a "pre-deployment in preparation for intervention" made by two Central African countries, without naming them. "Any state involved will be considered co-belligerent," it warned.

Thousands of coup supporters had gathered Sunday in the capital Niamey to cheer on the CNSP. At the 30,000-seat Seyni Kountche stadium, named after Niger's first coup d'etat leader in 1974, CNSP leaders, including General Mohamed Toumba, greeted a jubilant crowd.

The venue was draped in Russian flags and supporters carried portraits of CNSP leaders. ECOWAS military chiefs of staff agreed Friday on a plan for a possible intervention to respond to the crisis, the latest of several coups to hit Africa's Sahel region since 2020.

"We want diplomacy to work, and we want this message clearly transmitted to them (the military) that we are giving them every opportunity to reverse what they have done," ECOWAS commissioner Abdel-Fatau Musah said. AFP

PETITION IN COURT

Party seeks Imran's move to Adiala jail, calls for top facilities

ISLAMABAD

IMRAN Khan's party on Monday petitioned the Islamabad High Court to shift the jailed former prime minister from the Attock jail in Punjab province to Rawalpindi's high-security Adiala prison, keeping in view his affluent family background, social and political status.

In a petition, the lawyer of the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) party requested the Islamabad High Court to transfer the deposed premier where A-class facilities are available, adding that his family, lawyers and his physician Dr Faisal Sultan should be allowed to meet him.

He maintained that meeting his lawyers, legal team and family was the fundamental right of the party chairman.

Khan, 70, was arrested from his home in Lahore on Saturday shortly after an Islamabad trial court found him guilty of 'corrupt practices' in the Toshakhana corruption case and sentenced him to three years in jail. After his arrest, he was shifted to Attock jail in Attock city in Punjab province though the court order directed authorities to lodge him at Rawalpindi's high-security Adiala prison.

In a separate development, it was reported that Khan was shifted to cell no 2 in Attock jail, which has high security and 'better facilities', Geo News reported.

The size of cell no 2 is bigger than the previous one and has a table, chair, mattress, and bed. "Since childhood, the petitioner is from an affluent family, and later due to his education, habits, and social and political status in the society, has got accustomed to a better mode of life... is a graduate of Oxford University, UK and the ... captain of Pakistan national Cricket team...," the petition read.

"Keeping in view the petitioner's social and political status, his education, and his being accustomed to a better living style, the Petitioner was entitled to A-Class facilities in terms of Rule 243 read with Rule 248 of Pakistan Prison Rules." A team of doctors has been appointed for the PTI chairman and will check up on him in two shifts, Geo News reported.

After his arrest, "Charges of misdeclaration of assets have been proven against PTI chairman," Judge Humayun Dilawar wrote in his judgment, handing Khan three years in jail, along with a fine of Rs 1,00,000, while issuing an arrest warrant for his immediate arrest. PTI

Pheu Thai to join hands with military-backed party in Thailand

BANGKOK

THAILAND'S election runners-up announced a fresh coalition with a government-aligned party on Monday as lawmakers attempt to overcome resistance from military and pro-royalist senators to break a political deadlock.

The kingdom has been unable to form a government after the reformist Move Forward Party (MFP) fell short of a majority, despite winning the most seats in May's polls, and was later excluded from a progressive coalition.

The party's closest rival, Pheu Thai, announced the new partnership on Monday with another party, Bhumjaithai, bringing together a total of 212 seats in the Thai parliament's lower house.

A previous eight-party coalition headed by MFP failed to get leader Pita Limjaroenrat elected prime minister after he was blocked by junta-appointed senators opposed to his determination over the lese-majeste laws. Pheu Thai announced last week the progressive party had been excluded from the coalition, saying support for Pita's bid had stumbled over MFP's stance on lese-majeste reform.

Leader Chonlanan Srikaew announced on Monday a coalition agreement between his party and Bhumjaithai—a member of the army-backed coalition government elected in controversial 2019 polls.

Banned groups taking refuge in Afghanistan: Pakistan army chief

PESHAWAR

AMIDST a spike in terror strikes in Pakistan, Army chief General Asim Munir on Monday voiced concern over banned militant groups enjoying safe haven in neighbouring Afghanistan and asked them to submit to the writ of state or get decimated.

"Terrorism has no place in Pakistan and the involvement of Afghan nationals in terrorist incidents in Pakistan is detrimental to regional peace, stability and deviation from the Doha Peace Agreement by the interim Afghan government," he said.

During a visit to the headquarters of the Khyber-Pakhtunkhwa Frontier Corps (FC), he said: "Pakistan has concerns over sanctuaries available to banned outfits and liberty of action they enjoy on Afghan soil. Pakistan will spare no effort to dismantle terrorist networks and protect its citizens at all costs." His visit came days after a powerful blast triggered by a suicide bomber killed at least 63 people and injured nearly 100 others at a rally of a hardline Islamic party in a restive tribal district of Pakistan's Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province bordering Afghanistan.

The banned terrorist group Islamic State (ISIS) claimed responsibility for the suicide attack. "The surge in terrorism in the recent past is a futile effort on the part of terrorists to get the talks re-initiated; However, there is no option for these terrorists except to submit to the writ of state of Pakistan before they are decimated, if they persist on their wrong path," he said. Pakistan has witnessed a surge in terrorist attacks following Taliban's return to power.

General Munir met tribal elders from newly merged districts (NMDs) of the restive Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province and reiterated, "With the unflinching resolve of the nation, Pakistan is successfully countering terrorism to enable a stable and peaceful environment for socioeconomic development in the area." PTI

Helicopters collide in California, three killed

CABAZON

TWO firefighting helicopters collided while responding to a blaze in Southern California, sending one to the ground in a crash that killed all three people on board.

"Unfortunately, the second helicopter crashed and tragically all three members perished, which included one Cal Fire Division chief, one Cal Fire captain and one contract client pilot," Cal Fire Southern Region Chief David Fulcher told a news conference early Monday. Fulcher did not identify the victims.

Cal Fire and Riverside County Fire Department resources had been dispatched to a structure fire near the intersection of Broadway Street and South Ronda Avenue in the community of Cabazon, Fulcher said. That blaze spread into the surrounding vegetation and a full wildland fire dispatch was initiated, which included fixed-wing and rotary-wing aircraft.

While battling the blaze, the two helicopters collided. The crash caused an additional 4-acre (1.6-hectare) fire, which was extinguished.

"Although this was a tragic event, we are also thankful today that it wasn't worse,' Fulcher said. "The individuals in the first helicopter were able to able to land safely without incident and no one else was hurt."

The helicopter pilot was flying under contract with the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection, fire captain and spokesman Richard Cordova said Sunday evening.

The crash is being investigated by the National Transportation Safety Board. AP

Sebi moots lighter regulations for passive funds

To review criteria for stock inclusion in F&O segment, to launch platform for retail investors

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) is planning to launch a series of initiatives aimed to strengthening disclosure norms for companies, protecting investors and reducing compliance burden for asset management companies.

Among the major initiatives planned by the capital market regulator are reviewing eligibility criteria for inclusion of stocks in equity derivatives segment, introducing lighter regulations for passive funds and launching Investor Risk Reduction Access platform for retail investors, revealed the annual report released on Monday.

The regulator proposed to review the criteria for inclusion of stocks into futures and options (F&O) segment, also called equity derivatives market. The last review of the eligibility criteria for the introduction of stocks in derivatives was done in 2018. Introduction of stocks in the F&O segment are based on criteria such as the average daily market capitalization, average daily traded value, the market-wide position limit in the security and some other parameters. Sebi is also looking at strengthening the existing framework for price bands for stocks traded in the derivatives segment to reduce volatility and manage risks effectively.

Aiming to reduce compliance burden, Sebi is planning to introduce 'MF Lite' regulations for passive mutual funds under which such funds will be subjected to fewer compliance requirements. The regulator is already in engaged with the mutual fund industry to introduce MF Lite for passive funds. "If a mutual fund desires to offer only passive investment products such as exchange-traded funds (ETFs) and index funds - where investment decisions are not discretionary, but tied to changes in the underlying benchmark index, then there is a case to provide them a regulatory framework which has fewer compliance requirements," said Sebi in its Annual Report.

A passive fund is an investment vehicle that tracks a market index or a specific market segment. These funds include passive index funds, Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs), and Fund of Funds investing in ETFs.

Sebi is also considering allowing them to sell credit default swaps for the purpose of taking exposure in synthetic corporate bonds to provide additional investment products for mutual funds.

In the coming year, Sebi said it expects to see the launch of more facilities that are global firsts, such as the Investor Risk Reduction Access platform - a special window for facilitating investors to directly access the stock exchanges in the event of significant downtime of broker - and a SaaS-based model for clearing corporations to deal with cybersecurity events.

SEBI PLANS NEW INITIATIVES

- Sebi to review eligibility criteria for inclusion of stocks in derivatives segment.
- Sebi plans to introduce 'MF Lite' regulations for passive mutual funds.
- Mutual funds to be allowed to sell credit default swaps.
- Investor Risk Reduction Access platform to be launched for investors.
- Stricter disclosure norms planned for unlisted companies

If a MF wants to offer passive products, then there is a case to provide them regulatory framework with fewer compliance needs

Cos raised ₹9.8L cr from capital market in FY23

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

COMPANIES raised ₹9.8 lakh crore from capital markets during the fiscal year 2022-23 showing a rise of 4.6% over previous financial year, according to the annual report of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi).

Funds were raised from the market by corporates and infrastructure entities for their financing needs using instruments such as equity (public, rights, preferential, QIP), debt (public and private placement), Alternative Investment Funds (AIFs), Real Estate Investment Trusts (REITs) and Infrastructure Investment Trusts (InvITs).

"Of the total resources mobilized during the year, equity and debt segments accounted for ₹9.2 lakh crore of capital formation," noted the report.

Private placement of debt remained the primary driver of resource mobilisation in the debt segment, witnessing rise of 28% in funds raised during 2022-23, relative to the previous fiscal year. During the year, ₹7.1 lakh crore was mobilised through private placement on the Electronic Book Provider Platform (EBP). "Cost-efficient private placement boosted fundraising through this mechanism," said Sebi. Sebi said Alternative Investment Funds (AIFs) have emerged as one of the rapidly growing segments of the investment landscape in terms of growth witnessed in terms of commitments raised, funds raised, and investments made since 2018-19.

Lok Sabha passes Personal Data Protection Bill 2023

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Digital Personal Data Protection Bill, which proposes to safeguard privacy of citizens, on Monday, passed by voice vote in Lok Sabha.

The bill was passed after a brief discussion amid commotion as a few members sought amendment in the bill. IT minister Ashwini Vaishnaw, while moving forward the bill for consideration said it would have been good had the Opposition discussed the bill today. "But no Opposition leader or member is concerned over the rights of the citizens," said the minister. The Bill, now headed to the Upper House. Data Protection Bill, which proposes a penalty of ₹250 crore per instance, has been brought after extensive public consultation.

The government brought up the bill after six years after the Supreme Court declared Right to Privacy as a fundamental right. The bill mandates certain obligations for Data Fiduciaries in case of processing any data of citizens. The entities will seek consent of citizens and will have to inform the reasons to process data. In case of data breach, the entities will have to pay ₹250 crore in instance, and third time the company or organisation can be blocked. "Opposition members had little concern for issues such as public welfare and the protection of people's personal data, and hence, they were raising slogans," said the minister.

Meanwhile, industry experts are of the view that the bill once enacted will protect privacy of people. Manish Sehgal, Partner, Risk Advisory, Deloitte India, said, "Data protection bill once enacted will enhance the privacy cognizance of Indian citizens by empowering them with their privacy rights through transformative accountability measures to be adopted by enterprises. Driving robust protection and security measures, combined with effective privacy policies and grievance redressal are the layered requisites towards its compliance."

Cognizant infusing gen AI in core offerings

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

COGNIZANT, which expects to invest about $1 billion over the next three years in strengthening gen AI capabilities, says it is infusing gen AI into all its core offerings.

The company has introduced a gen AI-enabled conversational virtual assistant (VA) that's designed to help enterprises reimagine experiences beyond chatbots. It said that using this virtual assistant, the company's clients can boost their productivity by 25% and improve their digital score through predictive resolution and contextual knowledge search.

In an internal note to employees, Ravi Kumar S, CEO Cognizant, said gen AI is a natural evolution of the company's work across cognitive AI, enterprise applications and data and analytics services. The company will train 25,000 employees in gen AI and will be launching AI studios in Bengaluru, London, and San Francisco.

Sharma raises stake in Paytm as Chinese investors sell share

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

VIJAY SHEKHAR SHARMA, CEO of One 97 Communications Limited (Paytm), has become the largest stakeholder in the fintech company he founded as he acquires an additional 10.30% stake from Antfin (Netherlands) Holding B.V. (Antfin).

Based on the closing price as of August 4, 2023, the value of 10.30% stake amounts to $628 million, as per a regulatory filing by Paytm. The acquisition will be made by Sharma's 100% owned overseas entity, Resilient Asset Management B.V. (Resilient) based in the Netherlands On closing of this transaction, Sharma's shareholding in Paytm (direct and indirect) will increase to 19.42%, whereas Antfin's shareholding will reduce to 13.5%, meaning that Chinese billionaire Jack Ma-led Alibaba Group won't be the largest stakeholder in Paytm. Antfin is a subsidiary of Alibaba.

Since the expiry of the one-year mandatory lock-in period late last year, Alibaba Group, one of Paytm's earlier investors, has been reducing its stake even as Paytm shares are down by 60-70% compared to its issue price of ₹2,150. Alibaba had sold 3.16% direct stake in Paytm in February and exited from Paytm after off-loading a 3.1% stake in January this year.

Experts tracking the fintech industry said this step will not only increase Sharma's control over the fintech firm but would also fasten the regulatory process needed by the firm to start various financial services. "The presence of Chinese investors in Paytm may have been a concern for regulators to grant Paytm a payment aggregator licence. With this stake purchase, this concern may come down," said an expert requesting anonymity.

Other prominent investors in Paytm are SAIF III Mauritius Company (10.84%), SAIF Partners India (4.60%) and SVF India Holdings (Cayman), which has 9.18% stake. As per the agreement executed between Sharma and Ant, no cash payments will be made for this transaction and Sharma will not provide any pledge, guarantee or other value assurance either directly or otherwise. Meanwhile, Paytm has informed exchanges that PwC has resigned as statutory auditor of Paytm Payments Services, a subsidiary of the company. The company had said in the exchange filing PwC has not raised any concern or issue about the compnay.

Paytm founder's stake buy raises several tax questions

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

VIJAY SHEKHAR SHARMA'S acquisition of 10.3% stakes in Paytm from Antfin (Netherlands) throws up several tax questions for the Indian authorities.

Sharma is acquiring shares from Antfin (Netherlands) via a wholly-owned entity Resilient Asset Management BV, which is also based out of the Netherlands. Should the seller be paying capital gains taxes in India as both seller and the buyer are based in the Netherlands? Experts have differing views.

As per Indian domestic tax law, any income from sale of shares of an Indian company is deemed to accrue or arise in India and hence is subject to tax in India as capital gains. However, a relief is available under the India-Netherlands tax treaty, which states gains on sale of such shares will be taxable in the Netherlands only in a scenario where such sale has been made to an Indian resident by a non-resident holding 10% stake of Indian company. But in this case both seller and the buyer are non-residents. As per IndusLaw partner Shruti KP since both buyer and seller are non-resident entities based out of the Netherlands, under the India-Netherlands Double Tax Avoidance Agreement (DTAA), there may be no capital gains tax liability in India for seller, since taxing rights are granted to the Netherlands.

Other experts say provisions of General Anti-Avoidance Rule (GAAR) or Principal Test Rule (PPT) could come into picture, forcing the seller (Antfin) to pay taxes to Indian authorities. Sandeep Sehgal, partner-tax, in tax consulting firm AKM Global, says since the purchaser entity outside India is wholly owned by Vijay Shekhar Sharma (a resident), this transaction may have to go through lens of PPT Rule.

Industry bodies to set standards of rules: Sebi

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) on Monday said industry bodies will formulate standards in next three-four months to facilitate ease of implementation of rules concerning rumour verification as well as Environment, Social, Governance (ESG) assurance requirements.

Other areas to be focussed by industry bodies are structured digital database requirements under insider trading rules and disclosure norms, Sebi said in a statement on Monday.

To facilitate capital formation in the economy and ease of doing business, Sebi, in July, proposed formation of an Industry Standards Forum, to be formed by industry associations and chaired by an industry leader under the aegis of stock exchanges. It was proposed that the forum will formulate standards for implementation of regulations and circulars based on feedback from industry and stakeholders, in consultation with Sebi. Sebi said the proposal to start with a pilot has received positive feedback. Three industry associations - Assocham, CII, and FICCI - have nominated their representatives for the pilots and agreed on broad architecture of the forum and are in the process of selecting a Chairperson for the same, Sebi said.

The industry bodies have indicated a timeline of three-four months to design standards for effective implementation of requirements in these areas.

China makes up 30% of India's auto component import

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

CHINA still accounts for the majority of automotive component imports in India with its share coming at 30% in the financial year 2022-23, according to data released by the Automotive Component Manufacturers Association of India (ACMA) on Monday.

China was the biggest source of auto components import, accounting for 30%, in FY21-22 as well. Component imports in India grew by 10.9% in FY23 to Rs 1.63 lakh crore ($20.3 billion) from ₹1.36 lakh crore ($18.3 billion) in 2021-22. Region-wise, Asia accounted for 66% of imports followed by Europe and North America at 26% and 6% respectively.

ACMA Director General Vinnie Mehta said the component industry is looking to enhance exports while reducing imports, especially from China. As per him, from a peak trade deficit of $2.5 billion a couple of years ago in 2019, the industry has moved to a better position with a trade deficit of just $200 million in terms of imports.

Sunjay Kapur, President, ACMA & Chairman, Sona Comstar said, "The 'China+1' de-risking strategy of OEMs augurs well India to become a global manufacturing hub for automotive components." Exports of auto components saw growth of 5.2% to ₹1.61 lakh crore ($20.1 billion) in 2022-23 in contrast to ₹1.41 lakh crore ($19.0 billion) in 2021-22. North America accounting for 32% of exports, saw a growth of 8%. Europe accounted for 31% and Asia for 26% grew 3% and 4% respectively.

India's overall automotive components industry in FY22-23 grew by 32.8% to ₹5.60 lakh crore ($69.7 billion) as against ₹4.20 lakh crore ($56.9 billion) earned in FY21-22. The component industry last fiscal outpaced its highest-ever turnover of $57.1 billon (as per prevalent exchange rates) in FY19.

Lenders of Jet Airways ask Jalan-Kalrock Consortium to make ₹350 crore payment

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE committee of Creditors (CoC) of Jet Airways on Monday asked the Jalan Kalrock Consortium to pay ₹350 crore and said they may not pursue the appeal for transfer of ownership if the said amount is paid. This was told in a hearing at NCLAT.

Last month, the Jalan-Kalrock consortium, the successful bidder of the grounded Jet Airways, had asked the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) on the transfer of ownership of the grounded airline.

They had said that the lenders are not permitting them to start operations even though they had obtained all the requisite permissions from the government.

The NCLAT asked CoC to file an affidavit detailing their contentions. The case is likely to come up for hearing on August 18. On July 10, the committee of creditors of Jet Airways on July 10 told the Supreme Court that the Jalan-Kalrock resolution plan approved by the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) is not working and called for the liquidation of the grounded airline. This came after the NCLAT on May 26 granted the JKC a 97 days extension to pay a guarantee of ₹150 core to the State Bank of India (SBI). Jet Airways has been grounded for over four years now and the resolution plan of JKC was admitted in June 2021.

The CoC had earlier told the court it had spent Rs 470 crore since the implementation of the Corporate Insolvency Resolution Process (CIRP), without getting any return on investment. The creditors said they were incurring ₹23 crore in expenses every month.

Supreme Court rejects Go First plea against Delhi HC order to aircraft lessors to access planes

The Supreme Court on Monday rejected Go First's petition against the Delhi High Court order allowing lessors of the airline to inspect their aircraft they had lent to the crisis-hit airline. The court allowed lessors own the aircraft and added that as the matter is pending before a single bench of the Delhi HC, it will not interfere in the case. The bench said that the single judge will also decide the jurisdictional issues. Earlier, a single-member bench of the HC had allowed the lessors of Go First to access and inspect the planes. The order was later upheld by the division bench of the high court. Following this, the crisis-hit airline moved the apex court. ENS

Ecomm firm Meesho turns profitable

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

ECOMMERCE marketplace Meesho has turned profitable at a consolidated profit after tax (PAT) level. Meesho said it posted the first-ever profit ahead of expected timeline.

In last one year, its order volume rose 43%, culminating in over a billion orders. Revenue has surged 54%, driven by substantial growth in order volumes and monetisation rate. The firm, which didn't reveal PAT figure, competes with Amazon and Flipkart, and as per reports, it plans an initial public offering (IPO) in next 12-18 months. Vidit Aatrey, CEO and founder at Meesho, said, "As the first horizontal ecommerce platform to achieve profitability in India, we remain committed to driving sustainable growth, democratising ecommerce for everyone and unlocking the true potential of India's heartland."

Q1 FY24 RESULTS

INDIA CEMENTS POSTS NET LOSS OF ₹75.25 CR IN FIRST QUARTER

CHENNAI: India Cements reported a net loss of ₹75.25 crore in the first quarter of the financial year 2023-24 (Q1FY24) as a result of decline in revenue. The company posted ₹76 crore net profit in the same period last year. The cement manufacturer continued loss for the third straight quarter. Revenue from operations for the quarter stood at ₹1,393, a 3.6% drop on a yearly basis compared to ₹1,446 last year. The company cited supply overhang impacting prices, despite softening coal prices, reduction in variable costs and demand growth. Sales were at 26.57 tonnes, compared to 27.85 in the last quarter. Net plant realisation in Q1 was at ₹3,965 per tonne compared to ₹4,112 in the same period the previous year. ENS

RAMCO CEMENTS NET PROFIT DECLINES 30% TO ₹78 CRORE

CHENNAI: Ramco Cements net profit fell 30% to ₹78.91 crore in June quarter from ₹112 crore in the same period last year. Revenue from operations stood at ₹2,241, a rise of 26% from ₹1,772 crore in June 2022 quarter. EBITDA (Earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization) rose 13% during the quarter from ₹301 crore to ₹341 crore. Cost of materials rose from ₹215 to ₹300 crore and total expenses rose 31% to ₹2,140 crore. Sales volume improved to 4.30 million tonnes (MT) from 3.34 MT in the same period last year. Ramco Cements said in a statement its sales volume could have been better if not for the non-availability of sand in Kerala, supply disruption due to rail accidents in Odisha and West Bengal and active monsoon in North East, it said. ENS

SRH sack Lara, name Vettori as head coach

Sunrisers Hyderabad on Monday announced the appointment of Daniel Vettori as their head coach, snapping the alliance with Brian Lara that lasted two seasons. This will be former New Zealand captain Vettori's second coaching stint in the IPL as he had earlier coached Royal Challengers Bangalore from 2014 to 2018.

Playing in front of his family, Tamil Nadu forward helped his team thrash Malaysia on Sunday; hosts continue their winning run vs S Korea

From accidental player to India's scorer: Karthi's story

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

ON Thursday, S Karthi was overcome with nervousness. He was about to step onto the shiny blue astroturf at the Mayor Radhakrishnan Stadium for the first time ever. Wearing India's sky blue, he had already sung the national anthem.

The nervousness was two-pronged — playing in front of a big crowd at home for the first time was one. The bigger reason was his mother, Valarmathi, and father, Selvam, were about to watch him play in the flesh for the first time ever.

"I was a bit nervous," he tells this daily. "Playing in front of a big crowd like this in Tamil Nadu. Have played in front of big crowds elsewhere but first time at home. Once the match began, though, my teammates helped me adjust."

On Sunday, Karthi displayed zero signs of nervousness when he slammed a fierce drive to give the hosts the opener in what turned out to be a one-sided match against Malaysia.

The young forward controlled a long diagonal before showing the confidence and the ability to hit it past the 'keeper. More established forwards will have been tempted to take a few more touches to set themselves up. It's the sort of goal that would have pleased coach, Craig Fulton. "Got a really good skill set but it's about how to integrate him in the way we want to play and still use his skill set to, you know, see him bring his strength to the team. He's a goal-scorer," the South African had said of him before the Asian Champions Trophy. Finishing like that is one way of answering the call.

After the match, the 21-year-old said he was happy about the way he finished his chance. "You would have seen me working with the coach before the game, I was practicing that exact shot, happy that it came about in the match," he said.

That dedication and work ethic sort of explains Karthi's origin story. Without both of those, this accidental hockey player may have been lost to one of volleyball or football or basketball (his build explains this). "I was in class VI or VII," he says. "Used to play basketball, volleyball, football... didn't know about hockey." He was hooked on it after he saw one of the seniors play.

A change in vocation was seamless after his parents found a hockey player in their family. "A relative of mine had played. So I got him to give his old sticks." Because he was already playing multiple sports, he handled the shift with minimal fuss. A change of scenery ensued as his domestic hockey career began in earnest. When it really spread its wings for the first time was being top goal-scorer at a national level age-group event. A call-up to one of the age-group India sides followed. Just when it seemed he was set to take off, Covid-19 wrecked his plans in multiple ways. "There was a lack of tournaments, that was one. The main thing was there were some difficulties so I went back to support my family in Ariyalur.

"During that time, I did have many restless days and nights, worrying about whether I would be able to make the cut again. I knew I would be able to go to the junior national camp but I didn't know if I would be able to rediscover my touch."

After that tough stint at a bakery in his hometown (he spent his evenings maintaining basic fitness so he didn't put on excess weight), he quickly made his way through the levels once the doors opened after the initial wave of infections abated. At the 2022 Asia Cup, he was handed a maiden senior cap by then captain Birendra Lakra. To mark the occasion, the Odisha defender also gave him a hair band. "Biren Lakra gave me the blue band (he always plays with it) when he was my captain. He had played with it at the Olympics. I tried it on and it sat nicely with me so kind of made it my identity."

Primarily, he will also be aiming to make goal-scoring his calling card.

India regain top spot after narrow win

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

INDIA regained top spot with a 3-2 win over South Korea in the final match on Monday. Coming into the match already assured of a place in one of the semifinals on Friday, they signalled their intentions straightaway as Nilakanta Sharma swept home a finish from close range after good work from Sukhjeet Singh.

But the visitors hit back through Sunghyun Kim six minutes later. The defending champions were proving to be dogged opponents but India remained patient. Soon enough they restored their advantage, captain Harmanpreet Singh sounding the board from the top of the D. Harmanpreet, though, missed a stroke after Mandeep Singh continued his recent form with a field goal. The win means they will advance to the semifinals as one of the top two sides in the league phase.

But it wasn't the picture perfect display they enjoyed against Malaysia. They were slightly sloppy in defence (Korea earned 11 penalty corners, 7 more than India) and allowed the visitors multiple shots on target.

In fact, for most of the large quarter, Korea were camped in Indian territory with the hosts content at trying to just repel the attacks as they sought to hang onto the win. They almost paid the price as Korea halved the deficit with less than three minutes remaining via Jihun Yang.

India's last league match is against Pakistan on Wednesday.

Earlier in the day, Pakistan beat China 2-1 while Malaysia recovered from their loss against the hosts to secure a 3-1 victory against Japan.

Can India avoid series defeat?

Having lost to West Indies in the first two T20Is, the Men in Blue will be looking to keep the five-match series alive on Tuesday. A look...

EYES ON HARDIK, THE CAPTAIN

Whether not completing the quota of Yuzvendra Chahal or not using Axar Patel at all or fielding a team with little batting depth, Hardik Pandya's tactics in this series have come under the radar. At a time when teams are going batting heavy in the shortest format, trying to extend the depth and play aggressive cricket, India's No. 8-11 did not help their cause of replicating the same with the bat. Will Hardik change the way he goes about things with series on the line?

SAMSON NOT HELPING HIMSELF

The lone fifty in the third ODI apart, Sanju Samson has had three innings to forget — with India losing all three of them — so far. While it is true that Samson has not gotten a consistent run at the international level, in this series he has not helped himself with the way he has performed. With both KL Rahul and Shreyas Iyer still out of action due to injuries, it is an opportunity for Samson to move up the ranks, but that hasn't happened yet.

HOW TO STOP POORAN?

Nicholas Pooran has often been criticised for the price tag he attracts and his performance in the IPL. The last couple of seasons, however, he has shown that it is more a mismanagement than him being at fault. He even stole the show in the MLC 2023 final to help MI New York win the title. He continued the same form in the second T20I, taking apart the Indian bowlers for fun. Will Hardik and his bowlers have a trump card in their arsenal to stop him on Thursday?

Everyone knows that the two IPL seasons were my turning point. I am here because of my performances there. So I am just playing with that confidence and going forward I want to continue what I've been doing.

Expect Bumrah to be fine: McGrath

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @Chennai

AUSTRALIAN pace legend Glenn McGrath, who is the Director of the MRF Pace Foundation and along with chief coach M Senthilnathan is there to coach upcoming fast bowlers, said that the lay-off will help India pacer Jasprit Bumrah on his comeback during the Ireland tour later this month.

"It depends on how the injury is and the sort of expectations he has. I think he will be fine since he is a quality bowler. The lay-off will help him. Fast bowlers need that lay-off and time to get the strength back in their bodies. It depends on the work he has done off the field, how his back is and if he has done anything to his action. I think he has been there before and he has achieved it," McGrath said in a media interaction on Monday. The former pacer, however, felt that it is upto the individuals whether or not test themselves in domestic cricket before international games on comeback. "He's got enough experience. He has enough games before the World Cup to test himself. Eleven months is a long time out of the game, but if you are coming off an off-season and you want to get into it, hopefully, that only takes a few games," he added.

Coming to the ODI World Cup to be held later in India McGrath picks Australia as one of the four teams to make it to the semifinals. "The Australian Test team is a lot different to the one-day and the T20 teams, but I think they'll do well in the World Cup in India. They are in my top four teams to make it to the semis. I put India, Australia, England and I put Pakistan in there as well," added the former Australian pacer. As it has been the case through the year, Rohit Sharma's captaincy will be in focus as India has not won a World Cup since 2011. While McGrath refrained from commenting on Rohit's captaincy, citing that he has not seen that much of the Indian captain, he said that the best way to lead in a global tournament is to be proactive like former Australian captains Steve Waugh and Ricky Ponting.

An Ashes veteran himself, McGrath said that the recently concluded series between England and Australia was a good advertisement for Test cricket. He complimented England captain Ben Stokes' attitude to declare time and again in order to work towards a positive result, rather than play out dull draws. "I liked Ben Stokes mind set (declarations) where he has a positive attitude and wants to go for a result. He is not afraid to take risks in order to press for a win. The Ashes was a great contest. The fact that it was so close every day was exciting. Although my prediction 5-0 (in favour of Australia) didn't quite work out to have a series like that, I think it's great for Test cricket," he said.

AGENCIES @Sydney

MARNUS Labuschagne was, on Monday, left out of Australia's 18-member preliminary squad for the ODI World Cup in India in October-November.

Labuschagne was part of Australia's last ODI squad that played three matches in India earlier this year. The right-handed batter has featured in 30 ODIs since making his debut in January 2020. Uncapped leg-spinner Tanveer Sangha and all-rounder Aaron Hardie are the fresh faces in the Australia squad. The same 18-member extended squad, which will be trimmed later to 15 for the ODI World Cup, has been named for the series against South Africa and India in September ahead of the 50-over showpiece beginning October 5.

SQUAD (To be trimmed to 15 for World Cup): Cummins (c), Abbott, Agar, Carey, Ellis, Green, Hardie, Hazlewood, Head, Inglis, Marsh, Maxwell, Sangha, Smith, Starc, Stoinis, Warner, Zampa.

In a statement, Cricket Australia gave a fitness update on skipper Pat Cummins, who injured his left wrist during the fifth and final Ashes Test at the Oval. He will miss the T20Is in South Africa but will be available for the ODIs against the Proteas as well as India. Seasoned all-rounder Glenn Maxwell will not be available for the ODIs in South Africa as he is expecting the arrival of his first child. Australia can make changes to the World Cup squad until September 28.

Now, Varane questions added time rule change

AFP @Manchester

MANCHESTER United defender Raphael Varane said on Monday that players' views have been ignored on new guidelines that will see more time added on at the end of matches. Competitions around the world have been instructed to more accurately calculate time lost to stoppages this season, including goal celebrations and VAR checks.

Football's lawmakers IFAB said in March that the approach to calculating added time was "positively received" when it was first tested at the men's World Cup in Qatar and would be rolled out worldwide.

Arsenal equalised in the 11th of 13 added minutes at the end of Sunday's Community Shield against Manchester City and went on to win on penalties.

City manager Pep Guardiola criticised the move for putting extra strain on players. Guardiola has been backed up from the other side of the Manchester divide as Varane said players were not being listened to. "From the managers and players, we have shared our concerns for many years now that there are too many games, the schedule is overcrowded, and it's at a dangerous level for players' physical and mental well-being," the Frenchman posted on social media. "Despite our previous feedbacks, they have now recommended for next season: longer games, more intensity, and less emotions to be shown by players. We just want to be in good condition on the pitch to give 100 percent to our club and fans. Why are our opinions not being heard?"

Varane retired from international football at the age of 29 earlier this year, likening the slog of the top-level game to being in the cycle of a washing machine. The new guidelines on added time have been introduced to tackle time-wasting and increase effective playing time. However, the impact of the extra added time on players over a sustained period has already been highlighted by global union FIFPRO, which reported earlier this year that the changes would amount to the equivalent of up to three extra games per season for players with the highest existing workloads.

Messi magic again

FRISCO (US): Lionel Messi scored twice, including a brilliant late equaliser, as Inter Miami advanced past FC Dallas to the quarter-finals of the Leagues Cup on penalties after an enthralling 4-4 draw.

Kerr back as Matildas make their way to quarters

AGENCIES @Sydney

AUSTRALIA advanced to the quarterfinals of the Women's World Cup by beating Denmark 2-0 in Sydney on Monday. Goals from Caitlin Foord and Hayley Raso ensured the Matildas weren't the latest big name to crash out following the eliminations of holder the United States, Germany and Brazil. The tournament co-host will face France or Morocco in Brisbane on Saturday.

Australian fans will start to believe their team could go on to be crowned world champion after star striker Sam Kerr returned from a calf injury to make her first appearance at the tournament. In front of a crowd of 75,784 at Stadium Australia, the Matildas already put themselves on course for the last eight by the time Kerr made her entrance in the 80th minute. Foord fired Australia in front in the 29th after running on to a pass from Mary Fowler. Raso drilled home a second in the 70th after Emily van Egmond's lay off.

The Sydney Opera House was lit up in the yellow and green colors of the Matildas as excitement grew ahead of kick-off. Australian fans feared their team wouldn't even get out of their group after losing to Nigeria. But a 4-0 win against Canada in their final Group B match secured top spot. Back in Stadium Australia where they began their campaign on July 20, the Matildas were still without Kerr from the kickoff. The striker injured her left calf on the eve on that opening game and did not play in the group stage. Despite recovering from the injury, she was named as a substitute against Denmark. While she sat on the bench, Australia were still too strong for Denmark.

Foord's opener came after Fowler's incisive pass from her own half. Foord raced forward and, cutting in from the left, slipped her shot between the legs of Denmark goalkeeper Lene Christensen to spark wild fan celebrations. Foord was close to scoring a second before halftime when a shot across goal looped just past the post with Christensen beaten. Van Egmond's backheel from close range was then saved.

Durand Cup: Indian Army beat Odisha FC

KOKRAJHAR (ASSAM): Liton Shil scored and was later sent off as Indian Army beat Odisha FC by a solitary goal in a Group F match of the Durand Cup football tournament here on Monday. Shil struck in the 42nd minute which was enough for Indian Army to clinch victory against the Indian Super League side. Indian Army started the game on the front foot and they could have scored an early goal but an unmarked Rahul Ramakrishnan failed to capitalise on a cutback from right winger L Deepak Singh.

Shetty, Hooda to lead India in BWF Jr Worlds

NEW DELHI: Rising shuttlers Ayush Shetty and Unnati Hooda will spearhead India's 16-member squad in the BWF World Junior Championships, scheduled to take place in Spokane, USA, from September 25. The squad was selected after an exhaustive trials process that was held in New Delhi from July 26 to 29. 2022 Odisha Open champion Hooda will lead the girls' singles section along with BWF World ranked players Tara Shah (World No 7) and Devika Sihag.

Gymnast Dipa to be considered for Asiad?

NEW DELHI: Indian gymnast Dipa Karmakar is likely to be picked in the Indian contingent for the Asian Games following a request to the Sports Ministry by the Gymnastics Federation of India (GFI) to consider her case despite not fitting the selection criteria set by the government. Dipa, who brought Indian gymnastics into the spotlight by finishing a creditable fourth at the 2016 Rio Olympics, was dropped from the final list of women gymnastics squad for Asian Games for failing to fulfil the ministry's selection criteria.

PKL announces retained players list

HEMANT KUMAR ROUT @Bhubaneswar

RABINARAYAN Mishra, 50, did not pay much attention to his diet, led a sedentary lifestyle, and neither did he undergo regular check-ups or do exercise. As a pure vegetarian, who took food without onion and garlic, and did not even drink alcohol, he thought that he would never end up with any liver ailment.

One fine morning, he complained of indigestion and when it did not subside, despite medication, doctors advised him a sonography, which detected fatty liver. He was also diagnosed with diabetes and hypertension. Since he was obese, elastography (fibroscan) was conducted to ascertain the extent of scarring in the liver. Further diagnosis confirmed that Mishra had developed chronic liver disease. Months later, as accumulation of fluid in his abdomen was frequent, and with no other options, he underwent liver transplantation. Now his condition is better, but with a lot of restrictions.

"Mishra was suffering from non-alcoholic fatty liver disease (NAFLD), which led to cirrhosis before he could even get a hint of it. He might not be consuming non-veg food or alcohol, but calorie-rich food and diabetes damaged his liver. Had he done regular health check-ups and controlled his diet along with regular exercise, he could have prevented it," said his physician, senior gastroenterologist and advanced therapeutic endoscopist Dr Manoj Sahu.

Unfortunately, most liver diseases, including fatty liver, are asymptomatic till the time the liver is sufficiently damaged. Fatty liver disease has emerged as a silent epidemic in India. The prevalence of NAFLD, which is a multifactorial metabolic disorder, varies from 9-53% in the general population.

A recent study published in The Lancet Regional – South East Asia indicated that the overall prevalence of NAFLD is around 26.9%, with high heterogeneity and the risk of the disease is as high as 54% among people with metabolic disorders. The prevalence was 22.6% in rural and 32.9% in urban population. "The prevalence of NAFLD varies from region to region. Overall, one in every three person has fatty liver. A study conducted in Chandigarh found 53% of 1,000 blood donors with fatty liver. A meta-analysis of 50 studies conducted across the country involving around 24,000 adults found that 38.6% of them had fatty liver. The prevalence among adolescents is around 35%," said Dr Ajay Duseja, head of hepatology department at PGIMER, Chandigarh.

Causes and symptoms

Fatty liver disease is a condition caused by extra fat in the liver. Fat is generally stored in fat cells of the human body. When more and more fat accumulates due to high calorie food and sedentary lifestyle, the hormones that store fat in the cells become less functional, resulting in the fat from the cells moving to the liver. When the fat in the liver goes up from a usual 5-10% of the liver's weight, it becomes fatty.

Noted gastroenterologist Dr SP Singh said all fatty livers are not the same. "In most cases, fatty liver disease doesn't cause any serious problems or prevent the liver from functioning normally. Some can have mild disease and some can have serious disease. The disease gets worse over time in 7-30% of people with the condition," he said.

Age is an important factor as younger people will have mild disease and the severity of the disease increases with age. Gender also plays a role. In general, women in their reproductive age are protected from fatty liver because of estrogen in their body. Once they attain menopause, the level of estrogen goes down and the risk of fatty liver increases. The primary causes of NAFLD are obesity, type II diabetes, hypertension, lipid abnormalities (dyslipidemia) and insulin resistance. "The five factors are responsible for accumulation of fat (steatosis) in the liver. Steatosis leads to inflammation of hepatic cells and fibrosis. When inflammation is acute, the liver gets damaged leading to nonalcoholic steato-hepatitis (NASH). If left untreated, it develops into liver cirrhosis," said Prof Duseja. In case of disease severity, patients may develop symptoms like dyspepsia, abdominal pain or a feeling of fullness in the upper right side of the abdomen, nausea, loss of appetite or weight loss, itchy skin, yellowish skin and jaundice, swollen abdomen, ankles and legs (oedema), extreme tiredness or mental confusion and weakness.

Diagnosis

People are usually detected with fatty liver during tests and ultrasound carried out for some other symptoms. As fatty liver has hardly any symptoms, doctors usually spot it from elevated liver enzymes that turn up in a blood test conducted for other conditions. Elevated liver enzymes are a sign that the liver is hurt. Blood test followed by ultrasound confirms a fatty liver.

"Once a person is detected with fatty liver with or without symptoms, some basic investigations like fibroscan, liver biopsy and x-ray, CT scan or MRI are done to see how severe the liver disease is. Fibroscan is conducted instead of a liver biopsy to find out the amount of fat and scar tissue in the liver," said VGM Hospital (Coimbatore) chairman Dr VG Mohan Prasad.

Management and treatment

Since fatty liver is a lifestyle disease, controlling weight, diabetes, hypertension and dyslipidemia along with daily exercise will help prevent or reverse it. There is no medication currently that can treat NAFLD, but various drugs can be useful in managing the problems associated with the condition. Sans specific medications, doctors help patients manage factors that contribute to the condition. "There is no drug for those who have mild disease. The only drug for them is physical exercise and a healthy diet. Drugs are required for those who have more scarring, inflammation and fibrosis in the liver to bring the conditions down. There are specific treatment protocols for liver cirrhosis and liver cancer," Dr Singh said. In case of non-cirrhotic fatty liver disease, there are specific drugs and procedures available for those who fail to control their weight. Certain endoscopic procedures are also performed in the stomach to ensure that the appetite goes down and hormones improve. However, it is impossible to reverse the condition, if a patient develops severe liver cirrhosis.

"There are two stages of liver cirrhosis – compensated and decompensated. In the compensated stage, the liver functions near normally. We prescribe certain drugs and advise patients to go for weight control and manage other components like diabetes and hypertension to get it reversed. If a patient with cirrhosis goes into decompensation, an acute deterioration in liver function, leading to deposition of fluid in abdomen and hepatic encephalopathy, then change of liver (liver transplantation) is the only option left other than medication," Dr Duseja observed.

Prevention

The liver has the ability to repair itself. It is possible to reduce liver fat and inflammation and reverse early liver damage by adopting a healthy lifestyle. Obese people can adopt a balanced diet to lose weight slowly, but steadily. Rapid weight loss can actually make fatty liver disease worse. Doctors often recommend a healthy diet, which is high in vegetables, fruits and good fats. Regular physical exercise also helps improve insulin sensitivity, which controls fatty liver, body weight, diabetes, blood pressure and lipids. In addition, people need to maintain a balanced and healthy diet and shun fat, trans fat, junk food, high calorie and fried food. Sweetened carbonated drinks must be avoided as they are rich in fructose that gets converted into fat in the liver.

"Fatty liver can be a silent killer because progression of the disease is very gradual. Awareness and early intervention will always be beneficial. A first-of-its-kind pan-India study has been planned to ascertain the exact prevalence rate among children. The initiative - ROCCO (INASL-Rotary combating childhood obesity and fatty liver) will be piloted in Tamil Nadu and Kerala in collaboration with Rotary International before getting implemented in other states of the country," added Dr Mohan Prasad, chairman of the consortium.

WHO CAN HAVE NON-ALCOHOLIC FATTY LIVER DISEASE?

People with obesity, type-2 diabetes, high blood pressure, high cholesterol, metabolic syndrome, underactive thyroid and are insulin resistant for having polycystic ovary syndrome. Six in 10 diabetics and nine in 10 severe obese people have non-alcoholic fatty liver disease

PREVENTIVE MEASURES

- Limit intake of saturated fats and trans fats
- Eat a balanced and healthy diet
- Quit smoking
- Limit or avoid alcohol
- Limit consumption of refined carbohydrates
- Exercise regularly
- Modify lifestyle and maintain a healthy weight
- Take medications as prescribed

DAY'S DIARY

Quit India launch

On this day in 1942, at the All-India Congress Committee session in Bombay, Gandhiji launched the Quit India movement

SPEECH AT BOMBAY

He told, "There is a mantra, short one, that I give you. You imprint it on your heart and let every breath of yours give an expression to it. The mantra is 'do or die'"

LEADERS

The other leaders at the movement were Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, Subhas Chandra Bose, Mohammed Ali Jinnah, Asoka Mehta, etc

THE IMPACT

The next day, members of the Congress Working Committee and other Congress leaders were arrested by the British Government

The Kooks - Sunny Side Up, a production by Chennai-based theatre troupe The Little Theatre is coming to Bengaluru in a first attempt to perform elsewhere in India

ART AT THE HEART

..the Irish, the Italians and the Indians, all have the same sense of humour. So it doesn't matter where you stage a performance

Aysha Rau, founder, The Little Theatre

[Our] shows are always for the family...we also want the parents to have a great time as well

Krishnakumar Balasubramanian, actor-director

DESE GOWDA

THIS weekend, children in the city get to experience a one-of-a-kind theatre show that tickles their funny bones. What characterises The Kooks - Sunny Side Up, the latest comedy theatre show from Chennai–based The Little Theatre (TLT), is movement and space. The hilarious clowning-based play, which is being staged at Prestige Srihari Khoday Centre for Performing Arts this weekend, features talented performers, plenty of slapstick humour and is the brainchild of actor and theatre director Krishnakumar Balasubramanian, aka, KK.

"It is a visually-spectacular show. And it's got plenty of physical humour because it is something both a 70-year-old and a five-year-old in the audience can relate to. Little Theatre's shows are always for the family, so we believe that if children are coming in, we also want the parents who accompany them to have a great time as well," says KK, who is also the artistic director of The Little Theatre.

Having made his Tamil film debut with Kadhalaai alongside Prakash Raj in 2010, KK also went on to create and direct The Little Theatre's annual Christmas Pantomime show Alice in iLand the following year. Being a practitioner of hospital clowning since 2015, KK wanted to pay tribute to professional clowns involved in relief efforts in war-torn and disaster-hit locations across the world, with his latest creation, The Kooks.

"I've always been fascinated by the idea of food. For me, food is about building a community and people coming together. So I've felt it to be synonymous with what we do in theatre. I wanted to create a show that involves food and cooking in a kitchen. That was one of the basis for this idea. The other thought was to have clowns as characters in the play as a tribute to clowns who are doing incredible work in countries that are struck by war. A lot of people don't even realise that professional clowns go in for relief work in places struck by war, famine or natural disasters. All of this goes unnoticed," he adds.

Founded in 1991 by former advertising professional, thespian and writer Aysha Rau, TLT has been delving into innovative ways to encourage children in creative pursuits. Since 1995, TLT also began an outreach program offering workshops to nearly 200 underprivileged children each year.

However, due to various logistical reasons, TLT hasn't staged shows in other Indian cities previously, despite taking them overseas. Ahead of the group's first visit to Bengaluru, Rau says, "The audiences all over India are more or less the same. If you look at it, the Irish, the Italians and the Indians, all have the same sense of humour (laughs). So it doesn't matter where you stage a performance. And so whether we play in Chennai or Bengaluru, I think it will appeal to the audiences."

VEGAN IN VOGUE

The city recently witnessed the eighth edition of the Namu Recommends Vegan Market, one of the biggest such markets in the city, which was held on August 5 and 6 at Marakata - Chamara Vajra, Jayamahal. With climate change always being a prevalent topic in the news and as many would say the 'new normal', the importance of such festivals is immense as they promote alternative ways to live that do not cause harm to the environment. The weekend was a celebration of a vegan lifestyle where various brands showcased their green products. Engaging workshops and talks were also organised. Namu Kini, the market's founder, says, "It's an inclusive event for vegans and non-vegans alike, to come, explore and enjoy what Indian vegan businesses have to offer. The aim is to encourage and support veganism in India."

Mita Vashisht, actor

PIC: SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

After working with notable directors like Govind Nihalani and Mani Kaul, critically-acclaimed actor Mita Vashisht, who was in B'luru over the weekend, speaks about her move to commercial TV serials, mainstream actors dominating OTT platforms and more

MONIKA MONALISA

THERE was a buzz at the seventh Bengaluru Poetry Festival (BPF) when poet Jerry Pinto took a lighthearted dig on stage at actor Mita Vashisht after her solo act Lal Ded went beyond the scheduled time. Though Vashisht brushed aside the digs – 'don't think anything was out of place' – the room was buzzing with the comments made by a visibly-upset Pinto whose session was cut short.

"Since my work had strongly resonated with the audience, Jerry had to claim his space. He had to get Lal Ded off people's minds. I have learned in life that ego destroys life," says Vashisht, whose performance was based on the life of a medieval Kashmiri mystic of the same name.

Having been the muse for some of the stalwarts from the Hindi film industry like Govind Nihalani, Mani Kaul, Shyam Benegal, and Ketan Mehta, Vashisht was also in many mainstream soap operas like Kahani Ghar Ghar Ki, Kaala Teeka to name a few. Looking back, she says she made those choices 'actively' and felt them to be right then. "When I first joined the industry, I was about 25 years old. There was no money, no glamour, nothing at all. I was clear that all I wanted was two meals a day. Acting was my passion. Once I was already an actor, I realised it was a whole different world. You need to learn every aspect of life. That's why nothing that I do is ever irrelevant," says the 55-year-old.

frankly speaking

She has had many dry spells where she has not been seen on screen. "Acting has been my path but there have been many long spells where nothing good was offered. I feel that my acting skills are a gift from God. So sometimes I question God...'If you have given me the gift, why don't you give me the work that will match it?' Often, my scenes are chopped. Now when people approach me, I tell them not to cast me unless there's something solid," says Vashisht, admitting that it does affect her finances.

Often attributed as an 'actor from art movies', it was a ray of hope for Vashisht when OTT began to reign. However, she now feels that digital mediums are losing their purpose.

"The first three years of OTT were huge because we saw real actors making it big overnight. But within five years, every mainstream actor whose career is sliding or has slid off is jumping onto the OTT bandwagon. For example, had the recently-released Kajol-starrer The Trial been given to a real actor, they would have done wonders. Many producers are so conditioned by the power of what they imagine of Bollywood. It is affecting the OTT space," says Vashisht.

FIT BIT

SUCIRANDHRASANA VARIATION
(EYE OF THE NEEDLE POSE HOLDING SHIN)

This is a beginner level supine pose and one of the variations of the base pose Reverse Pigeon Pose. It stretches the lower body especially gluteus, hamstrings and hip flexors. It is considered a cooling down pose. It brings balance to the body.

STEPS

- Lie on your back with your knees bent, feet on the floor, closer to the lower back. Align to Savasana Variation Bent Legs (Constructive Rest Pose).
- Lift your left foot, cross the left ankle and place it on the right thigh, closer to the right knee. Ensure that your back is grounded on the floor and neck is not lifted up.
- Inhale gently and lift your right foot and place your left arm through the legs and hold the shin of the right foot with both hands. Keep looking up.
- Keep your breath under control and slowly press the right knee deeper towards the chest with exhalation and feel the stretch in the hip area.
- Stay here for 3 to 4 breaths. Gently release your arms, place your right foot on the floor followed by your left foot. Rest in this position for 2-3 minutes. Repeat the steps on the other side.
- Finally, relax in Savasana or Savasana Variation Bent Legs.

BENEFITS

- Stretches the leg muscles, gradually opening hip flexor muscles.
- Helps in a deeper stretch of the ligaments and soft tissues attached to the knee.
- Helps in better flow of breathing.
- Helps in relaxing the tense muscles.
- Soothes the lower back and de-stresses the body.
- Increases blood flow in the lower body.
- Stimulates the organs like liver, kidney, pancreas, uterus, etc.
- Beneficial for women especially during menstruation.
- Therapeutic for patients with lower back pain and sciatica.
- Helps in releasing the unresolved emotions.
- Helps to relieve stress, trauma and anxiety.
- Useful for pregnant women to release leg muscles and lower back pain.

LIMITATIONS

Those with injuries in the hip joints, knees, glutes or hamstrings, undergone any surgeries on spine, hip and knees, avoid.

Care should be given in cases of sciatica, when used as a therapeutic pose and for senior citizens.

Nalini & Surinder Sadhu

I have spent the last week 'chillin'. Not in the proverbial sense, but observing life and its complexities with a certain sense of detachment. If you think I have run off to join some secret sect, that speculation is furthest from the truth! A 'detachment' example being: two of my closest male-friends were in a deep discussion after a satisfying lunch at home. They expounded on everything under the sun, especially about non-compliancy with rules (they are the original baby-boomers) while I nonchalantly checked my phone. On being asked why I was not neck-deep in an argument (as is usually the case), I replied that I prudently choose my battles. Too many arguments, opinions and view-points only lead to an unbearable cacophony of shrill voices. My friend Saeed Mirza, author, filmmaker and an intellectual, always laments of the passing of those 'gup-shup' days of 'discussions' in a 'nukkad' (street corner) over hot cups of chai. I concur!

Not to say the violence that erupts all over our country doesn't upset me. The women, children and common-folk are targeted and are the most vulnerable because they are unprotected. They say that 'the meek shall inherit the earth'. There must be something left of the earth to inherit right? Therefore, I chill…

The Bailliage of India, La Chaîne des Rôtisseurs, the elite international gastronomic society, held their dinner at the Japanese restaurant Izu, Ritz-Carlton. A room full of genteel people, partaking on the best Peruvian-Japanese cuisine, (very akin to the Washoku' cuisine) and sipping on an excellent selection of sake make for the best company. GM George Kuruvilla made sure we went 'Viva La Chaîne'!

I was in 'chill' mode. So I excused myself early, discarded my heels and jacket and put on my dancing shoes and scarf and headed straight for The Four Seasons where my good friend Reuben Kataria called the who's-who of Bangalore to celebrate 'Copitas' winning the best bar accolade twice in a row. Needless to say the DJ and bartenders made sure that the guests were on full-on party mode. I was surprised to see 'la elegancia' of namma-ooru take a chill-pill and let their hair down!

I rubbed the sleep out of my eyes and landed up at the only authentic Irish Pub, Dublin, ITC Windsor Manor at the invitation of another good 'Goan' friend Deepak Menezes. I have been biting at the bits to restore this pub to its former glory and I was touched that Deepak invited me to witness the fabulous overhaul. The cocktails and gourmet 'pub-grub' that rolled out of its kitchen had me gasping with delight. Kudos!

My week of gourmet renditions floweth over! The gregarious couple, chefs Nalini and Surinder Sadhu called us to experience the 'epitome of Kashmiri Pandit and Wazwaan cuisine at Riwaz, Ritz-Carlton. I love that the name of their restaurant, Matamaal, literally means 'maternal grandma's home'. Kashmiri Pandit cuisine is quite different from the Muslim Wazwaan cuisine but surprisingly Pandit dishes contain a fair share of meats too.

The gentle aromatic nuances of the food, the spices and the heady taste of saffron completely mesmerized me. Chef Nalini and I chatted through the evening and as we left, she draped a pair of traditional Kashmiri (faux) Dehjoors (long earrings) on my ears.

It pays to chill!

WE live in strange times; of deepening insensitivities and absolute lack of fear of the law. Last year, an elderly gentleman had to pay with his life for objecting to loud music being played by three men in the neighbourhood late at night…Last week, three uncouth men beat up a senior citizen, his son – an aeronautical engineer and daughter – a software engineer when they objected to them urinating in front of their house. All this within a small distance away from the traffic cops. This incident does not speak about the impunity of these goons alone; more importantly, the fact that people have lost respect and fear of law is worrisome and dangerous. Who will react to a smallest issue or incident is no longer a predictable guess. Heinous crimes like murder and rape have become routine. A girl dare not refuse a boy. He will kill her or main her for life. A pregnant woman cannot walk home back safely. She will be accosted, bribed and killed by a lecherous man. A principal can rape a second class student and believe that he can camouflage pedophilia behind his farcical pedagogy. A dance teacher can not only rape his girl student; he can also make videos of his disgusting act and blackmail her into having sex with his friends. Why are humans turning savages? This is not about lack of laws. It is all about how we bring up our sons. How Indian families crave male lineage and pack them up with pseudo machismo. It is how women, who are the worst victims of gender disparity, contribute to patriarchal heft by grooming their sons to believe that females are a lesser and weaker gender and that it is the bounden duty of the male to control them under the garb of protection.

My anger is at this assumption that women are weak and need to be protected. Women don't need laws to protect them. They don't need an assurance that a dress code will protect them either. They don't need men to be scared of the police, the judiciary and the prison. What they need is right parenting; from the time they are born; gain cognition to adolescence and early adulthood. I have often heard mothers expressing concern about their daughter's safety, in educational institutions, roads, public places etc. The wolves are often found at home and get away with their lustful behaviour because the shame and burden of exposing them is borne by the girl or the woman. I've often come across confidential narrations by women, who share their pain, anger and guilt of being violated by their relatives at a very young age and were asked to shut up by their mothers, aunts or elderly female relatives for the sake of family honour. A child seldom tells a lie. It is the adult, who breaks their trust and victimises them into life long suffering of self mistrust and skewed relationships.

Rape is a heinous attempt to assert power on the other – a violent act of botched manhood. Stripping and parading women in nude is a blatant show of power as if women were trophies won in a war. There is no difference where women are placed, in which region of the world, which time frame. Women need to know that the burden of rape and stripping them naked is on the men. A woman can, and must pick up her clothes from inside the vaults of the diseased mindset and walk free without any shame. The law and its custodians will do what they must. Society can be where it was and will continue to remain, fearing the bad and the 'mighty.'

GETTING ALONG

LOVEOLOGY
Mahesh Natarajan
(The author is a counsellor with InnerSight)

HAVE you noticed how much pressure we put on ourselves to like the people that the people we love like? This is especially true at the beginning of a relationship. Meeting friends or family is such a big step for this reason.

When your beloved wants you to meet their favourite people, there is a lot of such trepidation. Will there be some instant connection? Will you be able to get along with each other? What if something about their appearance, or just their presence is somehow a turn off for you? What if their politics, religion or anything else in their belief system is absolutely horrible and antithetical to your own? What if they don't follow the same people you do on social media, or don't share the same interests, or worse if their sense of humour is not at all aligned with your own?

What if you do not like them at all? What if instinctively we just don't want them around as much as possible?

While we may not have romantic competition in these spaces, there is some truth to the idea that the friends and family we meet are still competition for the mind space and emotional space of the person in whom we are interested. There is only that much time and energy we each have, and we cannot limitlessly engage with everyone. When we meet someone else who is significant for our person, there are parts of us that tries to assess how much space and time the other will take and how they will accommodate us as the new person in their dynamic. We may not necessarily be asking these questions as openly, but chances are that we are looking at a whole lot of cues to make an assessment.

How close to your person are they sitting? What kind of rights do they assume on each other? Do they touch each other all the time? How are they talking with and about each other? What names do they use? What does your person tolerate about their friend with affection that you may not have seen acceptance for yourself with them?

What we see as an instinctive dislike might really be our subconscious judgment about the dynamics between these people, and how it affects us. It is an important piece of information if these people are going to be a significant part of your lives together in the coming months and years. Just trying to ignore it may not necessarily be helpful, and yet, just completely going by your gut feeling and demanding restrictions on the pre-existing relationships might not help either.

So, what can you do?

The trick, as with any such things, is often in bringing what's subconscious to the conscious. If we recognise that our instinctive feeling is because of such factors, understand them and then try to express ourselves, it can help. Better communication can maybe lead us to a better relationship. It is still a maybe though. Love is complex and who knows what can happen!

JAILER GETS THE HIGHEST NUMBER OF SHOWS FOR A RAJINIKANTH FILM IN KARNATAKA

The presence of Shivarajkumar in a key role and distribution by Jayanna Films has ensured that the action-packed entertainer will have 2500+ shows across Karnataka in Tamil, Kannada, and Telugu languages

A SHARADHAA

Excitement is high among the audience who are waiting to catch superstar Rajinikanth's forthcoming film, Jailer. Helmed by director Nelson Dilipkumar, the actioner is set to release in August, 10 in multiple languages. The excitement knows no bounds, particularly in Karnataka, as the Thalaivar film marks the Tamil debut of Century Star Shivarajkumar, who will be seen in a key role, alongside Malayalam Super Star Mohanlal.

The highly anticipated release of Jailer, distributed by Jayanna Films, is set to enthral audiences across Karnataka. With a strategic focus, the film is slated to grace approximately 300 screens in multiple languages, in both single screens and multiplexes. Producer Jayanna himself confirms that Jailer will have an extensive network of screens, with plans for 5 to 6 shows in single theatres across Karnataka, commencing as early as 6 am. On the other hand, multiplexes have orchestrated at least 15 to 20 shows, culminating in a collective total exceeding 2500 shows on the first day. "This unprecedented number of screenings for Jailer in Karnataka marks a new pinnacle in Rajinikanth's illustrious career, says Jayanna adding, "The film's essence transcends language barriers, revolving around Rajinikanth's stature as a global superstar. The inclusion of Shivarajkumar in a pivotal role alongside other esteemed actors is an additional bonus contributing to this record-breaking feat."

The ensemble cast also features acclaimed actors like Ramya Krishnan, Jackie Shroff, Vasant Ravi, Yogi Babu, and Reding Kingsley. Tamannaah Bhatia's presence adds a touch of glamour with the captivating song Kaavaalaa, composed by Anirudh Ravichander.

CE FEATURES

Shashank's latest directorial, Kousalya Supraja Rama, starring Krishna, Milana Nagaraj, Nagabhushan, and Brinda Acharya, has got an excellent reception across Karnataka since its release on July 28. Although the film jointly produced by Kaurava Production House and Shashank Cinemas, is successfully entering its third week this Friday, a new challenge has surfaced.

Amidst the competition by recent releases in Tamil, Telugu, and Hindi such as Jailer, Bhola Shankar, Gaddar 2, and Oh My God 2, the team behind KSR is grappling with concerns about screen allocation. These fresh releases have further diminished the screen availability for Kannada films. Notably impacting Kousalya Supraja Rama, which currently boasts 120 scheduled showings in Bangalore. This situation has prompted the KSR team to formally address the issue with the Karnataka Board of Film Commerce, citing a perceived bias against Kannada films.

The team's frustration grew due to a lack of response from multiplexes regarding their appeals for more family-oriented showtimes. Adding to their concerns, films in other languages are securing an imbalanced share of screenings. In response, the team is making an earnest plea to both relevant authorities and multiplex establishments for a more equitable approach, underscoring the pivotal role of Kannada films within Karnataka.

Abishek and Dhanveerrah

Vaamana is aiming for a mid-September release

CE FEATURES

With the first track from Vaamana, titled Va..va..va.. Vaamana making quite the mark, the makers have now unveiled the second song from the film. Titled Muddu Rakshasi, the song was released by actor Abishek Ambareesh during an event held on Sunday. Picturised on the lead pair of Dhanveerrah and Reeshma Nanaiah, the song captures the essence of romance between the characters.

With lyrics by V Nagendra Prasad, and sung by Vijay Prakash and Harshika Devnath, the music is composed by Ajaneesh Loknath. Muddu Rakshasi is choreographed by Bhushan Master.

Abhishek Ambareesh said that Muddu Rakshasi resonates with the sentiments of many, and praised the contribution of the hero highlighting the dedication of the music director and lyricist. Additionally, he commended the dance master's choreography for enhancing the song's visual appeal.

Directed by debutant Shankar Raman S, Vaamana is produced under the banner of Equinox Global Entertainment, lead by Chethan Gowda. The film is expected to release in mid-September, with the exact date to be announced once it receives clearance from the censor board.

THE MAKING OF A KILLER DOCUMENTARY

SUDHIR SRINIVASAN

Selvamani Selvaraj

Filmmaker Selvamani Selvaraj speaks of his four-episode Netflix documentary, The Hunt for Veerappan, and the unforgettable learnings he encountered while making it

Who hasn't heard the story of the dreaded Veerappan and how he eluded police capture for decades? And yet, as is so often the case with such stories, there is a whole lot more to it than the simplistic idea of an evil criminal outwitting good-natured upholders of the law. Selvamani Selvaraj, the director of the latest Netflix documentary, The Hunt for Veerappan, is convinced, in fact, that this is the "world's best story". When offered the chance to make a documentary on any topic of his choice, he had already decided he would use this opportunity to discover the mysterious story of Veerappan. This was a story that had enchanted him for years, a story he knew a bit of from anecdotes and literature, and personal experiences too—like when his family went on a trip to Sathyamangalam and forest authorities suggested that they take a different route, worried that Veerappan might be lurking nearby.

He set out to make this film by undertaking journeys to villages that Veerappan (and team) often frequented and getting a sample of tribal life. He managed to win the trust of important stakeholders, including Veerappan's associates like Anburaj, relevant police personnel, and even Veerappan's wife, Muthulakshmi. "There are two approaches to making a documentary: one, where you have an opinion on the subject matter and another, where you present the facts as an unbiased, empathetic observer. I chose the latter approach." And yet when Selvamani began, he wasn't so 'unbiased', especially about the police department. "We feel a certain distance from the police on account of the authority they wield. I did too; however, after meeting them, it dawned on me that they had suffered too. I was able to extend my empathy to every single affected member in the Veerappan story, regardless of their allegiance."

The story of Veerappan is pieced together as a tapestry of anecdotes from both those who were close to him and the police department. "I went on Veerappan's trail almost 20 years after his death. At every step, I could see the resilience needed to live and survive as he did," says Selvamani, who cites the redemption of Veerappan's aide, Anburaj, as an inspirational transformation. "Veerappan's aides, the police personnel, the tribal population of those lands... they are all heroes to me, given how they flirted with danger every day."

The fundamental inquiry of The Hunt for Veerappan is a question each of us have asked at some point in relation to the Veerappan story. Why did it take so long to nab the forest brigand? "The documentary, in presenting answers to this question, discovers the story of Veerappan." Veerappan is largely remembered by many as a handlebar-moustache-sporting, mass-murdering smuggler who evaded capture—and such easy labels make it easy to dismiss him as a 'bad man'. The director believes such simplistic classification to be quite unhelpful in understanding truth. "When I told my friends that I was searching for the Veerappan story, they'd ask me the same question. 'Was he a good man or a bad man?' My answer to this question was always, 'Please see the documentary and tell me what you think."

Selvamani himself was no novice to the story, having spent substantial time learning about the bare bones of Veerappan's life. This knowledge helped him gain the respect of those he was approaching for the documentary, including police officers who had played a part in taking Veerappan down.

Veerappan comes across as a complex man who's hard to understand. On one hand, he loved the forest to bits and thrived in it. And yet, he slaughtered elephants by the thousands. While he began his journey motivated by profit and security, by the end, he seemed to be gravitating towards a selfless cause. "Even I couldn't understand some of his contradictions. He loved the trees so much, and yet, he was chopping down sandalwood trees for profit. I think Veerappan had a moral compass of his own that didn't really care for laws, which he felt benefitted those in power," says Selvamani. It is debatable whether Veerappan was ideologically solid, but his reputation as a hunter is beyond doubt and the stuff of legends. "He was a mythical hunter who could hit his target from two-three kilometres away. He could take position on one hill and bring down an adversary in another. Even those in the police department admit that a man like Veerappan would have been a matchless asset, if he had joined the army."

Time, Selvamani believes, has helped heal many wounds suffered—both by those who stood by Veerappan and those who stood against him. Even Veerappan's wife, Muthulakshmi, who claims to have been tortured by the police, has come around a bit, he says. "She agrees Veerappan was a criminal. She also sees that not all police personnel are bad. In a way, I think everyone who's part of this story is on the brink of finding closure."

Selvamani hopes that viewers will not classify anyone easily and reject them. "When we classify, we lose depth. It's easy to reject Veerappan as a murderous forest brigand, but when we look deeper into him, we uncover so much truth about him—and ourselves." The filmmaker too uncovered some truths he won't be forgetting soon. "I set out to make a film about unspeakable violence, and yet, now that it's all done, I'll remember it for the many research trips I went on and the incredible affection with which I was treated by those who had suffered so much pain." It's said that nature has the power to reclaim an abandoned city and turn it into a forest in a decade. It appears that the human tendency to rebound towards love isn't all too different. "The tribals suffered so much trauma, and yet, when I went there asking about the story of Veerappan, all they gave me was love."
